By Pat J. Kirwin.

THAT the business transacted by the boards of county commissioners in the early history of the county is very interesting. An account concerning the purchase of the Scioto river bridge is given:

A special session of the county commissioners of Pickaway met at the auditor's office on Thursday, Oct. 4, 1838. Present: Peter Miller and Joseph Hays for the purpose of making arrangements about the bridge across the Scioto river and whereas the commissioners of the county did on Aug. 1, 1836, enter into an agreement, with the Circleville Bridge Co. to purchase from said company all their stock at par in the words and figures following to-wit: We, the undersigned commissioners of Pickaway do agree on behalf of the county to purchase of Andrew Huston, Thomas Huston, Joseph Olds, William McArthur, Joseph G. Doddridge, Noah S. Gregg, Matthew McCrea, Edson B. Olds, Thomas H. Gibson, N. and J. L. Franklin, S. S. Denny, E. Webb, the town council of Circleville, W. B. Thral, John L. Green, Robert Hartwell, John Walke, Joseph Johnston, Rogers Martin and Co., Joseph Landis, Andrew Cradbaugh, William Moore, William B. Brown, and William Martin all the stock they respectively own in the Circleville Bridge Co. at par as soon as the bridge is completed and that the treasurer of said county issue an order to pay for the stock at the completion of the bridge and as soon as the stock shall be assigned to the county. Jeremiah Brown and Jacob Lindsay, commissioners.

That other excerpts taken from the journal tell something of the early history of the town and county:

JUNE 5, 1837
John Irwin and others appeared before the commissioners and prayed for a road leading from High North-st. to intersect the Lancaster-rd at the rise of ground on the north of Hargus creek and near the old bridge.

The request was granted.

The sheriff is ordered to expose at public sale July 30, 1837, two gray horses given up by one John Smith as security for one Francis Martin, charged with horse stealing, on bond forfeited to the county.

DECEMBER 6, 1837.
The auditor is ordered by the commissioners to advertise the sale of the poor house on Feb. 10, 1838, and also sealed proposals will be received for the maintenance of the paupers for the next year.

ORDERED THAT THE AUDITOR OF THE COUNTY SUPERINTEND THE FIXING OF THE PORCH AT THE POOR HOUSE BY SETTING POSTS UNDER SAME.

OCTOBER 4, 1838.
ORDERED by the commissioners that Matthias Meyers is appointed superintendent of the canal bridge in Circleville. Also the bridge across the Scioto river is to be covered with oak boards two inches thick and when the boards are broke to be covered with tan bark about three inches thick and keep the same in repair until further order.

MARCH 5, 1839.
Ordered that Solomon Hedges have an order for $8 for making a coffin for Mrs. Elsey and taking to the grave.

ORDERED BY THE COMMISSIONERS THAT JOSEPH LEBES BE APPOINTED A COMMITTEE TO INVESTIGATE THE CLERK'S, AUDITOR'S, TREASURER'S AND SHERIFF'S OFFICES TO ASCERTAIN WHETHER THERE IS ANY MONEY IN THESE OFFICES AND MAKE A REPORT BY JUNE SESSION, 1839.

Ordered by the commissioners that Thomas W. Morris, auditor of the county, have an order for $3.15 for candles, postage on letters and chopping wood for the office.

WHITE CALLS SESSION FOR SALARY CUTS

"Where's the Fire?"

Even the toughest gangster couldn't resist arrest by this "cop" recently designated by Chief of Police T. O. Sturdivant as the youngest police officer in Atlanta, Ga. He is Bernard Blackwell and as this photo was made Officer Blackwell was making out a ticket for an infraction of traffic rules.

TRUCK CHASER IS FINED $10

Several Cars Park Too Close To Truck Fire Chief Says Saturday.

Despite the fact that a number of automobiles chased the fire truck on its call to Northridge-rd and Pickaway-st Friday evening only one person, Leroy Hawks of Walnut-st, was arrested. He was fined $10 when he pleaded guilty before Mayor E. T. Hedges to charges of reckless operation of a motor vehicle and failing to give the right of way to a police car.

One of the charges was filed by Deputy Sheriff Miller Fassett and the other by Raymond Smith, night desk sergeant.

Talmer Wise, chief of the fire department, declared Saturday that a number of cars were parked too close to the fire truck.

Grass burned at the scene of the call.

Chief Wise, Saturday, sent letters to the electric, gas and water companies asking their cooperation in fire calls and that each has one man at the scene of any blaze.

ORDERED THAT THE AUDITOR OF THE COUNTY SUPERINTEND THE FIXING OF THE PORCH AT THE POOR HOUSE BY SETTING POSTS UNDER SAME.

Tuesday, Sept. 27 is Date for Meeting of Special Legislature
PLAN QUESTIONS
Schedule Ready for Cutting State Salaries

COLUMBUS, Sept. 17.—Gov. George White today fixed Sept. 27 as the date for the special session of the state legislature to consider measures of economy.

"The special session of the legislature to consider measures of economy particularly in reference to officials' salaries and personal service compensation will be called for Tuesday, Sept. 27," the Governor's announcement read.

"In addition to the foregoing economy measure I have under consideration a number of other measures which have been proposed for action by the legislature at the special session."

TIME NOT CITED
No indication was given by the Governor as to the length of time that probably would be necessary to transact the business scheduled to be laid before the special session. He declared, however, that he hoped the business could be cleared away speedily.

Preparation of the program to be taken up at the special session has been underway since the last special session of the legislature in May.

At that time sentiment appeared for legislative action on salary reduction for state employees, and a senate committee was appointed to study the matter. Later Gov. White appointed a committee headed by State Finance Director Edward J. Revis to collect data for further state governmental economies.

"OTHER MATTERS"
Among the "other matters" expected to be placed before the special session for action when it convenes are:

Legislation to exempt certain rural tax payers from special assessments for highway construction.

Legislation permitting state and local subdivisions to borrow funds from the federal Reconstruction Corporation.

Legislation permitting building and loan associations to buy stock in federal home loan banks.

It was also expected that the matter of housing conditions in the largest cities of the state would be placed before the legislature for remedial action.

Another important item which probably will be taken up will be that of an amendment to the new state intangible tax law relating to the distribution of funds. "The distribution clause in the statute as passed at the last session of the legislature was declared unconstitutional in a court ruling recently in Hamilton-co.

DEATH CLAIMS F. L. FICKARDT AT HOME HERE

Retired Druggist Dies After Illness of Two Years Friday at 3

FUNERAL IS MONDAY
Leaves Son, Daughter, Four Grandchildren

Frederick Lutz Fickardt, aged 74, prominent retired druggist, passed away quietly at his home, 356 E. Main-st, Friday at 3 p. m. Two years' illness of heart trouble caused death.

Mr. Fickardt's health had been not good for quite a while but he became seriously ill several days ago.

The drug store on W. Main-st which is now operated by Mr. Fickardt's only son, George H. Fickardt, has been in the Fickardt family since 1839 when George H. Fickardt, father of Frederick L. Fickardt, became associated with Dr. Erasmus Webb. It is Circleville's oldest drug store.

NATIVE OF CITY
Mr. Fickardt was born in this city Jan. 28, 1858, a son of George Hunter and Carolyn Lutz Fickardt. He was married Jan. 4, 1880 to Miss Anna Renick who preceded him in death about 10 months ago.

Surviving are two children, Mrs. Helen F. Gunning and George H. Fickardt; a sister, Mrs. B. F. Benford, and four grandchildren.

Mr. Fickardt was an active member of B. P. O. Elks lodge No. 77 and of the Episcopal church. He was the first esquire of the local Elks lodge after its organization.

FUNERAL MONDAY
Funeral services will be held Monday at 10:30 a. m. at the home with Rev. L. C. Sherburne officiating. Interment will be in Forest cemetery by Mader & Ebert.

Funeral bearers will be A. L. Wilder, Dr. H. D. Jackson, Dr. Maynard Brown, F. R. Caldwell, Frank Hamilton and Hulse Hays.

Murdered Wife To Rest Beside Suicide Husband

Body of Mrs. Edith Dubois Dug From Cement Vault By Workman After Mystery Is Clouded By Suicide of Jewelry Salesman Husband.

PLYMOUTH, Mass., Sept. 17.—Charles Edwin Dubois and Edith M. L. Dubois will rest peacefully side by side in a local cemetery. The suave jewelry salesman who put a bullet through his head in tacit confession of his wife's murder will be buried with her in a double funeral ceremony.

Hearts that once beat hate and fear will mingle with the same earth, beneath modest headstones giving no indication of the brutality and anguish in which they beat their last.

"Much has happened since these two first met, but I believe they might well be buried together," said Jeremiah J. McAnarney, Dubois' attorney.

McAnarney, with Jules Dubois, brother of the dead man, is in charge of funeral arrangements. The two bodies were apart for the last time last night, for early this morning the corpse of Mrs. Dubois, exhumed from the cellar of the Dubois summer camp yesterday, will be carried to the John Hall funeral parlors in Quincy, to join her husband's.

So does the "Corpseless Murder Mystery" produce its dead-not one but two after eight days' search for a corpse which eluded dragnet, shovel, pick and sounding board in the vicinity of a lonely summer bungalow beside a pond.

So does the most sensational murder case New England has had in years come to its close, for with the suicide of Dubois and the discovery of Mrs. Dubois' body in a crypt in her own cellar, Assistant District Attorney John W. Sullivan announced that written "finis" to his investigations.

WONT PROBE WOMAN
Miss Grace Atwood, the beautiful blonde with whom Dubois had a romance before his wife's murder and who accompanied him in the fugitive flight, told the couple after the woman's death, will not be questioned.

Even if Dubois wrote her a farewell letter, she will not be questioned. (Continued on Page Five)

Radio and Pictures on Wall of Home Divided in Document of Woman.

HER four daughters are named beneficiaries in the last will and testament of the late Mrs. Mary A. Caldwell of 214 W. Huston-st, according to the document filed in probate court.

The estate composed of personal property, is valued at $600.

A daughter, Rose Turner, this city, is given a radio, and the will further devises that the pictures on the wall of Mrs. Caldwell's home be divided among her four daughters. Wilbert Huffer and Jesse D. Huffer, two sons by a former marriage, are given $1 each.

The rest of the estate is to be divided among the four daughters. Mrs. Rose Turner, Mrs. Minnie Robinson, Mrs. Lena Ferns and Mrs. Ernestine Deconick.

The will was written August 1, 1932 and witnessed by J. L. Kirwin and Miss Elsie Hanley. McKee Terwilliger has been named executor of the estate. Albert D. Frank A. Lynch and T. P. Brown were appointed appraisers.

NEW YORK'S MAYOR ORDERS NEW SLASH

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—Luxurious pleasure cars the city hitherto provided for many department heads and officials were to be doled out today by order of Mayor Joseph V. McKee.

In the interests of economy, about 300 smart automobiles used by various officials for social purposes as well as for business, will be "disposed of," the Mayor said.

Mayor McKee also ordered the Bronx terminal market closed at the end of this year. He predicted a saving of $144,828 annually through this action.

SHORT ILLNESS TAKES LIEF OF DR. RECTOR, 55

Cerebral Hemorrhage Last Wednesday Fatal to Native of City

DIES IN HOSPITAL
Funeral Services to Be Monday at 2

Dr. James M. Rector, aged 55, native of this city and prominent Columbus physician for the past 30 years, died in Grant hospital Saturday at 8 a. m. Death was due to a cerebral hemorrhage.

Dr. Rector had been ill since Wednesday when he collapsed in his office in the Rector building at Sixth and State-sts., Columbus.

He was general diagnostician and specialist in internal medicine.

BORN IN CIRCLEVILLE
Dr. Rector was born in this city June 27, 1877 a son of Newton and Leticia Rector. Surviving are two brothers, Fred, a Columbus attorney, and Howard of Oakland, Cal., and a sister, Florence, wife of Hildebrand Jones N. Scioto-st.

He lived at 878 Franklin-ave. Funeral services will be held Monday at 2 p. m. at the Schoedinger chapel with burial in Forest cemetery here.

Mr. Rector was a member of the Crichton, Columbus, Faculty and Columbus Country clubs.

PROSECUTOR IS CRITICISED

Special Counsel Sought In Building and Loan Company Indictments.

COLUMBUS, Sept. 17.—Criticism of Prosecutor Donald Hoskins' handling of the Columbus Building & Loan Co. inquiry was climaxed today by an outright demand that he appoint a special prosecutor to try four financial leaders indicted yesterday on charges of willfully misapplying and abstracting funds.

Censure of Hoskins' investigation was concentrated in newspapers editorials charging that indictments should have been returned many months ago, providing earlier relief for the thousands of depositors whose funds have been tied up.

FOUR INDICTED
E. M. Baugher of Newark, former president of the Columbus Building & Loan Co., former vice president, Henry Williams, former director, and Scott M. Swisher, former loan manager, were to be arraigned today on charges brought as a result of Hoskins' inquiry.

Charges that they negotiated improperly secured loans of $133,222 to themselves were made against Baugher and Langdon Williams, who, in addition to their positions at the Columbus, were vice president and president, respectively, of the National Savings & Loan Co., which recently sold its assets to the Columbus.

LOWRY SATER TO SPEAK AT ELM SERVICES

History Day Observation to Be Held at Logan Elm October 2nd

FUND INCREASES
Miss Ruggles Contributes $25; Writes Note

Announcement was made Saturday that Lowry F. Sater, prominent Columbus attorney, will deliver the address at Ohio History Day exercises at the Logan Elm park, Sunday, Oct. 2. The meeting begins at 1:30 p. m.

The exercises will mark the twentieth anniversary of History Day observation and Mrs. Howard Jones, Park-pl. president of the association, will make a short talk in commemoration of the twenty years gone by.

Music for the services will be provided by the Circleville high school band.

Articles of interest by Mrs. Jones will be printed at intervals during the next two weeks concerning the Elm and the History Day association.

SIGNIFICANT NOW
History Day services this year are probably more significant than they have been for quite a while with an effort being made by several Ohio newspapers, The Herald, the Ohio State Journal and the Scioto Gazette of Chillicothe to raise a fund of $500 by contribution to provide for rebuilding of the famous Logan Elm.

Tree authorities say, can be trained to add another 100 years to its age which is thought to be about the 300 year mark.

The fund is growing rapidly with the Journal having collected approximately $500. The Scioto Gazette fund being about $250 and The Herald's practically the same as the Chillicothe newspaper.

MISS RUGGLES CONTRIBUTES
The Herald's fund was increased by $25 Saturday when a note was received from Miss Ruggles, Ruggles of Santa Barbara, Miss Ruggles in her contribution to the Logan Elm fund.

"The fund for the restoration of the Logan Elm appeals to me, and I wish to add the small amount to help in the enterprise you have undertaken.

"With my best wishes for the welfare of our wonderful tree.

Very Truly Yours
Elizabeth J. Ruggles

A number of Columbus and Central Ohio patriotic organizations, realizing the historical worth of the tree, have made contributions to the fund.

SALES NETS $30
A sum of $30 was obtained Friday when the Scioto Livestock Sales Co., of Chillicothe, auctioned off a baby beef which was purchased by Martin Weber of Columbus. The Hocking Valley Livestock Sales Co., will auction off a stock baby beef at Lancaster Tuesday, the proceeds to go to the fund.

OFFER CLEVELAND LOWER WATER RATE

CLEVELAND, Sept. 17.—A proposal for the reduction of water rates in Cleveland and its suburbs ranging from 11 to 16 2-3 per cent today awaited formal approval of the City Council, following its acceptance by the city board of control.

Destined to become effective on Oct. 1 if the council gives its endorsement, the proposal would result in a saving of $250,000 a year, according to an estimate of the board of control, which is composed of Mayor Ray T. Miller and his cabinet.

Large Tent Will Protect Entries

Each day from now on until Pumpkin Show, Oct. 5, 6, 7 and 8, the Herald will endeavor to print a short article concerning the place or places of the entries in the show. These articles are for the purpose of acquainting the general public with the big event and its operation.

Poultry, birds, rabbits and pets for the 1932 Pumpkin Show will be shown under a large tent giving protection in all kinds of weather. They will be fed and cared for free of charge. C. M. White and Harry Lane are chairman of this division and suggestions should be obtained from them.

The director of Department No. 3 will be J. W. Crist. C. M. Lane will be one of his assistants.

Pumpkins, squashes and fresh vegetables for the show will be in charge of R. L. Brown. He will have any large pumpkins, squashes or any fresh vegetables bring them in to the show. They might win you a prize.

KNIGHT OF HIGHWAY HURT IN HOSPITAL

Jack J. Kelly, aged 40, address unknown, was admitted to Berger hospital Saturday at 10:30 a. m. suffering from a chest injury received when he fell from a railroad bridge near Worthington Tuesday. He "thumbed" his leg to Asheville and was given medical treatment by Dr. E. S. Hostler and brought to the hospital by Constable Des Spangler of Asheville Saturday morning.

HOSPITAL NEWS

Mrs. Ray Red, 1212 W. Cortland-st, underwent an operation on the removal of her tonsils at Berger Hospital Saturday.

Dr. C. G. Stewart performed the operation.

Mrs. Caldwell's Will Elects Children

Radio and Pictures on Wall of Home Divided In Document of Woman.

Her four daughters are named beneficiaries in the last will and testament of the late Mrs. Mary A. Caldwell of 214 W. Huston-st, according to the document filed in probate court.

The estate composed of personal property is valued at $600. A daughter Rose Turner, this city, is given a radio, and the will further devises that the pictures on the wall of Mrs. Caldwell's home be divided among her four daughters.

Wilbert Huffer and Jesse D. Huffer, two sons by a former marriage, are given $1 each.

The rest of the estate is to be divided among the four daughters, Mrs. Rose Turner, Mrs. Minnie Robinson, Mrs. Lena Ferris and Mrs. Ernestine Deconick.

The will was written August 1, 1932 and witnessed by D. J. Kirwin and Miss Eloise Hanley. McKee or Terwilliger has been named executor of the estate. Albert Dodd, Frank A. Lynch and T. P. Brown were appointed appraisers.

WOMEN TO ENTER POLITICAL FIGHT

Women Democrats will formally enter the Ohio campaign next Saturday at the annual meeting of the Federated Democratic Women of Ohio, it was announced today.

Mrs. Nellie Taylor Ross, former governor of Wyoming; Governor George White, Democratic State Chairman Henry G. Brunner and other leading Democrats will address the meeting.
Miss Jemima Dungan is in charge of local arrangements.

NEW YORK'S MAYOR ORDERS NEW SLASH

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—Luxurious pleasure cars the city hitherto provided for many department heads and officials were to be doomed today by order of Mayor Joseph V. McKee.

In the interests of economy, about 300 smart automobiles used by various officials for social purposes as well as for business, will be "disposed of," the Mayor said.

Mayor McKee also ordered the Bronx terminal market closed at the end of this year. He predicted a saving of $144,828 annually through this action.

SHORT ILLNESS TAKES LIEF OF DR. RECTOR, 55

Cerebral Hemorrhage Last Wednesday Fatal to Native of City

DIES IN HOSPITAL

Funeral Services to Be Monday at 2

Dr. James M. Rector, aged 55, native of this city and prominent Columbus physician for the past 30 years, died in Grant hospital Saturday at 8 a. m. Death was due to a cerebral hemorrhage.

Dr. Rector had been ill since Wednesday when he collapsed in his office in the Rector building at Sixth and State-sts, Columbus.

BORN IN CIRCLEVILLE

Dr. Rector was born in this city June 27, 1877 a son of Newton and Letitia Rector. Surviving are two brothers, Fred, a Columbus attorney, and Howard of Oakland, Cal., and a sister, Florence, wife of Hildebrand Jones N. Scioto-st.

He lived at 878 Franklin-ave. Funeral services will be held Monday at 2 p. m. at the Schoedinger chapel with burial in Forest cemetery here.

Mr. Rector was a member of the Crichton, Columbus, Faculty and Columbus County clubs.

PROSECUTOR IS CRITICISED

Special Counsel Sought In Building and Loan Company Indictments.

COLUMBUS, Sept. 17.—Criticism of Prosecutor Donald Hoskins' handling of the Columbus Building & Loan Co. inquiry was climaxed today by an outright demand that he appoint a special prosecutor to try four financial leaders indicted yesterday on charges of wilfully misapplying and abstracting funds.

Censure of Hoskins' investigation was concentrated in newspapers editorials charging that indictments should have been returned many months ago, providing earlier relief for the thousands of depositors whose funds have been tied up.

FOUR INDICTED

E. M. Baugher of Newark, former president of the Columbus Building & Loan Co., Langdon T. Williams, former vice president; Henry A. Williams, former director, and Scott M. Swisher, former loan manager, were to be arraigned today on charges brought as a result of Hoskins' inquiry.

Charges that they negotiated improperly secured loans of $133,233 to themselves were made against Baugher and Langdon Williams, who, in addition to their positions at the Columbus, were vice president and president, respectively, of the National Savings & Loan Co., which recently sold its assets to the Columbus.

Henry Williams was accused of assisting in making the loans and Swisher was indicted in connection with the sale of the National's assets. The latter transaction is now the basis of a suit here which charges the sale was illegal.

Newspaper criticisms of Hoskins said he was given the facts about the Columbus' tangled affairs last May.

KNIGHT OF HIGHWAY HURT; IN HOSPITAL

Jack Corbley, aged 40, address unknown, was admitted to Berger hospital Saturday at 10:30 a. m., suffering from a chest injury he received when he fell from a railroad bridge near Worthington, Tuesday. He "thumbed" his way to Ashville and was given medical treatment by Dr. R. S. Hosler and brought to the hospital by Constable Des Spangler of Ashville Saturday morning.

LOWRY SATER TO SPEAK AT ELM SERVICES

History Day Observance to Be Held at Logan Elm October 2nd

FUND INCREASES

Miss Ruggles Contributes $25; Writes Note

Announcement was made Saturday that Lowry F. Sater, prominent Columbus attorney, will deliver the address at Ohio History Day exercises at the Logan Elm park, Sunday, Oct. 2. The meeting begins at 1:30 p. m.

The exercises will mark the twentieth anniversary of History Day observance and Mrs. Howard Jones, Park-pl. president of the association, will make a short talk in commemoration of the twenty years gone by.

Music for the services will be provided by the Circleville high school band.

Articles of interest by Mrs. Jones will be printed at intervals during the next two weeks concerning the Elm and the History Day association.

SIGNIFICANT NOW

History Day services this year are probably more significant than they have been for quite a while with an effort being made by three central Ohio newspapers, The Herald, the Ohio State Journal and the Scioto Gazette, of Chillicothe, to raise a fund of $900 by contribution to provide for rebuilding of the famous Logan Elm, which, tree authorities say, can be treated to add another 100 years to its age which is thought to be past the 300 year mark.

The fund is growing rapidly with the Journal having collected approximately $500, the Scioto Gazette fund being about $50 and The Herald's practically the same as the Chillicothe newspaper.

MISS RUGGLES WRITES

The Herald's fund was increased by $25 Saturday when a check was received from Miss Elizabeth J. Ruggles of Santa Monica, Cal.

Miss Ruggles in her communication to The Logan Elm editor of The Herald said:

"The fund for the restoration of the Logan Elm appeals to me, and I wish to add the inclosed amount to help in the enterprise you have undertaken.

"With my best wishes for the welfare of our wonderful tree.

Very Truly Yours,
Elizabeth J. Ruggles"

A number of Columbus and central Ohio patriotic organizations, realizing the historical worth of the tree, have made contributions to the fund.

SALES NETS $30

A sum of $30 was obtained Friday when the Scioto Livestock Sales Co., of Chillicothe, auctioned off a baby beef which was purchased by Martin Weber of Columbus. The Hocking Valley Livestock Sales Co., will auction off a second baby beef at Lancaster Tuesday, the proceeds to go to the fund.

OFFER CLEVELAND LOWER WATER RATE

CLEVELAND, Sept. 17.—A proposal for the reduction of water rates in Cleveland and its suburbs ranging from 11 to 16 2-3 per cent today awaited formal approval of the City Council, following its acceptance by the city board of control.

Destined to become effective on Oct. 1, if the council gives its endorsement, the proposal would result in a saving of $250,000 a year, according to an estimate of the control board, which is composed of Mayor Ray T. Miller and his cabinet.

Large Tent Will Protect Entries

Each day from now on until Pumpkin Show, Oct. 5, 6, 7, and 8, The Herald will endeavor to print a short article concerning one phase or another of the annual show. These articles are for the purpose of acquainting the general public with the big event and its operation.

Poultry, birds, rabbits and pets for the 1932 Pumpkin Show will be shown under a large tent giving protection in all kinds of weather. They will be fed and cared for by one of the showmen, White and Harry Lane are chairman of this division and information should be obtained from them.

The director of Department No. 3 will be J. W. Crist. C. M. Leist will be one of his assistants.

Pumpkins, squashes and fresh vegetables for the show will be in charge of R. L. Brehmer. If you have any large pumpkins and squashes or any fresh vegetables bring them in to the show. They might win you a prize.

LEAGUE "11S" SHOW STRENGTH IN GAMES

Tigers Show Wares, Whipping Merchants; Grandview Puts Up Good Tilt

While Coach "Pete" Herberholz' Circleville high Tigers were giving a Circleville Merchants' a taste of defeat in their first work-out of the season Friday afternoon, three other Central Buckeye League teams were in action, two in victories and the third in defeat.

Delaware and Marysville opened their seasons with triumphs while Bill Zwick's Granville team, defeated, put up a great fight against the South high Bulldogs of Columbus.

The local Red and Black team surprised on-lookers at the high school field as it ran rough shod over a group of former Tiger gridders. Herberholz used the scrimmage session as a means of trying out all of his available material and was enthused and more confident about the season's outlook after the game.

eleven humbled a Mt. Gilead team by the score of 19 to 0. John Heinlen, George Wyss and Lyle Ziegler scored the touchdowns. The game was played at the Delaware field. Grandview's Bobcats were defeated 12-0 in their season opener at South high in Columbus. Coach Bill Zwick said that his gridders were completely outclassed in weight and experience. Cooper, a freshman, and Severs, a sophomore, sparked in the Grandview backfield with Montgomery starring among the linemen. The Grandviewites never had a chance to score.

Jerry Kingsmore's Marysville gridders opened their season victoriously at their home town field, winning 33-7, from New Albany. The latter's lone touch came in the last quarter when V. Carpenter got away on a 90-yard run touchdown after a kickoff. The Union-co backfield composed of Wilkins, McMahon, DeGood and Brannan scored Marysville's touchdowns.

Chillicothe and East Side of Columbus, battled to a scoreless tie before 1,500 fans at Chillicothe Friday afternoon.

"Tackles" Cries Buckeye Coach

COLUMBUS, Sept. 17.—Coach Sam William's eyes searched the Ohio State university football field today for two unknowns who can be converted into tackles strong enough to stop the thrusts of the Big Ten's powerful ball-carriers.

With the practice season definitely under way, William launched upon a hunt for the unsung successors to Bob Haubrich and Bill Bell, who graduated last spring after proving to be all that Big Ten tackles should be. Unless those two huskies are replaced the Buckeye line will be in weak condition.

Sixty-seven candidates, including 16 letter men, has turned out, and two more letter men were expected to return. A general feeling of optimism circulated through the Ohio Stadium, where the workouts were held, but the tackle problem remained as difficult as ever after the whole field of candidates was surveyed.

USING CONRAD
"Blackie" Conrad, the long, lanky Wooster boy who was assigned to end duty last year, was stationed at one of the tackles in a line-up William used yesterday afternoon for the purpose of demonstrating plays and formations. Van Blarcom, a utility lineman from last year, was at the other.

Although William insisted that the line-up didn't mean a thing, considering that the season is to open with Ohio Wesleyan here on Oct. 1, a scant two weeks, it is herewith presented as a nucleus to be used in preparing for the opener:

Ferrell and Gillman, ends;

Conrad and Van Blarcom, tackles;

Gallus and Varner, guards;

Smith, center;

Cramer, quarterback;

Hinchman and Carroll, half-backs;

Vuchinich, fullback;

MANY BACK

Ohio State's squad abounds in backfield material. Five different backfields were chosen yesterday afternoon for formation practice. In his previous three years as coach at Ohio State, William probably hasn't had so much backfield material. The Wesleyan game will tell him something of the quality.

"Pro" Gridders Spending Cash For Condition

PORTSMOUTH, Sept. 17.—The brand of football played in the National League is steadily improving as is evidenced by the increased care and expense to which the major circuit clubs go in preparing for the opening of the season.

Adopting the thorough methods used by major league baseball clubs in taking training trips the majority of the eight clubs assemble far in advance of the season so that the players enter the opening games as fit as they would ordinarily be midway through the championship schedule.

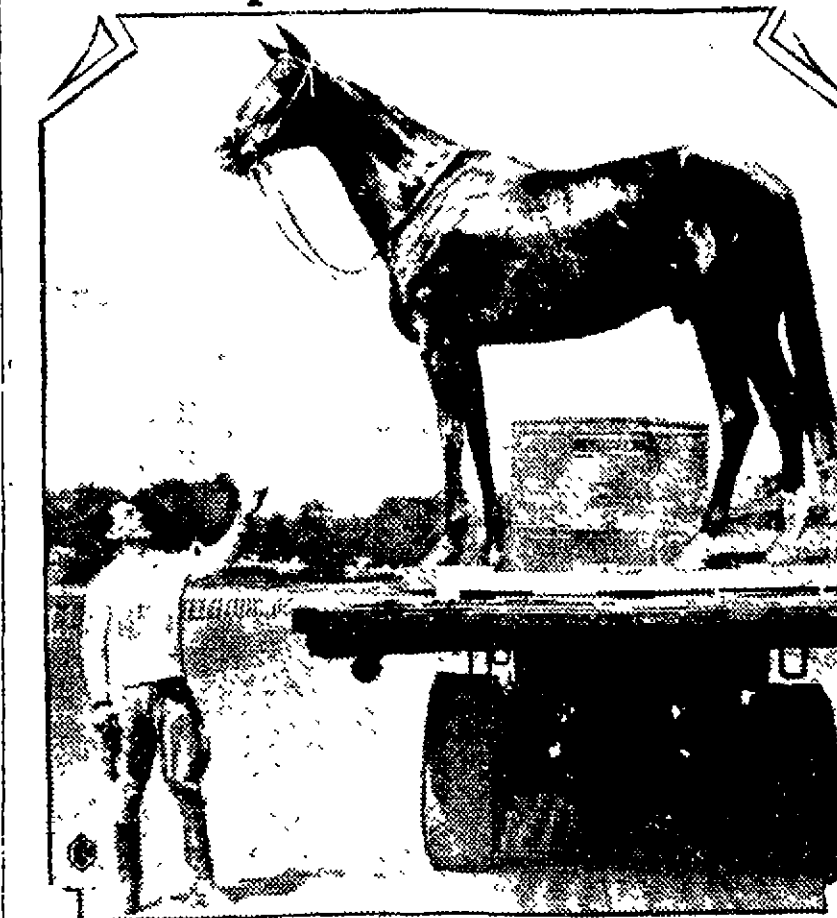

Benny Friedman, who took over the post as playing-manager for Brooklyn this season, has the Dodgers squad at Lakewood, N. J., working out on the Gould estate there.

GIANTS IN OHIO
Lud Wray, former Penn head tutor who is at the helm of the Boston eleven, has his large squad quartered at Lynn, Mass., while the New York Giants assembled at Magnetic Springs, Ohio, to get into condition.

Green Bay and Portsmouth find interest in their pro-honorary activities so great at their home fields before large turnouts. The opening of practice at Portsmouth was the signal for a celebration to which more than 10,000 spectators turned out.

Stapleton, the Chicago Bears and the Chicago Cardinals also find it necessary to devote more than three weeks to preliminary work before entering a league fray and like the other teams of the circuit do not enter league warfare without turnout games.

Phar Lap Back From the Dead

Looking so natural that the wife of his former owner is said to have fainted at the sight of him, Phar Lap, Australia's famous wonder horse, who died last April at Menlo Park, California, is shown as he made his reappearance as a masterpiece of the taxidermists' art. D. J. Davis, of San Francisco and Australia, Phar Lap's owner, had the horse mounted and the great racer is now touring the race courses of the country before being presented to the Australian government. Photo was made at Empire City, New York.

CHICAGO GRID HOPES MOUNT

Stagg Believes Prosperity Is Returning To His School; Vets Return.

EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the second of a series of articles on 1932 Big Ten conference football teams.

BY LEO FISCHER
International News Service Sports Writer.

CHICAGO, Sept. 17.—It begins to look as though Chicago finally is on its way back to football prosperity.

Influx of promising material, return of most of last year's players, and the addition of several outstanding sophomores have all combined to create a spirit of optimism.

Even the veteran Coach A. A. Stagg, about to open his 41st year as coach at Chicago, has this to say:

STAGG PLEASED
"I look forward to the impending football season with more anticipation and confidence than I have had reason to feel for many years. I expect it to be very satisfactory. And I think that the loyal alumni and friends of the university will find it equally as satisfactory."

Chicago should win at least half its games—and unless we're mighty mistaken, may furnish one of the big early season surprises by upsetting the haughty Yales on Oct. 8.

Indiana, Purdue, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin are on Coach Stagg's Big Ten card. Maroon losses from last year's fighting squad will be more than offset by the wealth of new material. Three backs—Eugene Buzzell, Paul Stagg and Joe Temple; two ends—Bernard Wien and Bob Walsh; and two fine guards—Capt. Sam Horwitz and Stanley Hanberg, are the only men who will not be back.

As the team prepares for its opening game a week from today with Monmouth college, it shapes up with no potential weakness except at end. From tackle to tackle the line is rugged, while the backfield is easily the best in a decade

SALTCREEK BOYS BEAT PICKAWAY

Score Eight Runs in Last Two Innings To Cop 14-4; Horn On Mound.

Saltcreek-twps' baseball team defeated Pickaway-twps on the latter's diamond Friday evening by a score of 14-4. Saltcreek made eight runs in the last two innings.

Horn pitched the complete game for the Saltcreek youths and after the first inning was master of the situation. Three markers were scored in the opening session and one in the third. Estell started on the hill for Pickaway with Atwood succeeding him.

Lineups were: Saltcreek, Horn, pitcher; Bushee, catcher; Dawson, 1b; Hartrant, 2b; Kuhn, 3b; Pritchard, ss; Eugene, rf; M. Hartrant, cf; Neff, lf. Pickaway, Estel, p; Rhoads, c; Wilson, 1b; Atwood, 2b-p; Newhouse 3b; Harrel, ss; Blagg, rf; Wilson, cf; Brown, lf.

The bulky extra base hits were recorded by Jim Hartrant, who smacked a triple and Neff with a two-ply blow.

Next week Pickaway plays Washington and on Sept. 30 enters tains Adolphia at home.

Leist of this city, umpired the game Friday afternoon.

Miss Elizabeth Umstead's Jackson-twps girls recreation ball team defeated Washington-twps Friday.

SOMERVILLE AND GOODMAN TANGLE

FIVE FARMS, Md., Sept. 17.—Before tonight, today, either C. Ross (Sandy) Somerville, a Canadian, whose presence at this late moment is not without official surprise, or Johnny Goodman, an American whose presence at any time is not without official discomfort, will be the amateur golf champion of the United States for 1932. They will meet in the 36-hole final round morning and afternoon, for the title out there in the hill country of Maryland, a couple of supposed step-children who have outlived all heirs to become nearest of kin and inherit the family plate.

No Canadian ever before has survived the championship to reach the final round. No foreigner, except Harold Hill, a twenty-one years ago, has won the American amateur title. So a victory by Somerville today would be a bit of a shock to American prestige; and yet it is possible that it will be received in some quarters with something less than resignation.

ROSEQUIST BACK

COLUMBUS, Sept. 17.—Ted Rosequist, football star who was denied entrance to Ohio State university three years ago after he left John Carroll university at Cleveland, today became a candidate for one of the important tackle positions now open on Coach Sam William's Buckeye team.

Rosequist reported to William and announced his determination to land one of the positions vacated by Bill Bell and Bob Haubrich at graduation. Rosequist started the 1931 season at a tackle, playing in the opening game against Cincinnati, but was forced to withdraw from a bowl because of illness.

WIFE DANCES OUT OF HUSBAND'S LIFE

NUNSTON, England.—Because she found a better dancing partner than her husband, one with whom she could turn more competitions and get more cups, a 23-year-old wife summoned her husband to court here for desertion.

The wife, Mrs. Mabel Arnold, and her husband entered many competitions, and brought home many cups. They were very happy until the husband followed another young man to ask his wife out dancing. She found that the young man was an even better dancer than the man she had married. The magistrate refused to grant a separation order.

KINGSTON

The Woman's Home and Foreign Missionary Society of the Presbyterian church met on Wednesday afternoon, Sept. 14, in the lower room of the church. The meeting was called to order at 2:30 o'clock by the president, Mrs. H. E. Yaple. The devotionals were in charge of Mrs. Martha Mundell. Mrs. Margaret Dalbey, a visitor, read the Scripture lesson. The secretary, Mrs. D. W. Kuhn read the minutes and called the roll.

Mrs. S. A. Teague gave an interesting report from the executive meeting held at Greenfield on Wednesday, Sept. 7, when the Chillicothe Presbyterian met and Mrs. Teague and Mrs. H. E. Yaple attended. Mrs. Teague also gave a talk on "What is the Church and Community Doing for Our Children?" Mrs. Yaple read a poem "Old Stuff" by Edgar A. Guest.

Miss Ida Holderman read a very interesting paper comparing this generation of young people with the generations of long ago and her comparison was in favor of the young people of today. Mrs. Hazel Rowland sang "Someone Who Cares," accompanied by Mrs. H. E. Yaple. Mrs. W. D. Wood was the program leader. Refreshments composed of home-made cookies and iced tea were served to 21 members and visitors.

The visitors were, Mrs. Jane Leist, Mrs. Margaret Dalbey, Mrs. Ada Boggs, Mrs. Laura Lindsay and daughter, Georgianna, Mrs. Chauncey Smith, Mrs. Hazel Rowland and Mrs. Cyrus Route.

Miss Jessie Wood is the guest of Miss May Tempier at Belpre, O., for two weeks. Mrs. Laura Lindsay and daughter, Georgianna, of Columbus, are spending part of the time at Miss Wood's home.

N. F. Bond moved the electric light office from the room lately vacated by Beavers and Davis to the C. M. Senff office on Pickaway-st.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Hanawalt of Chillicothe, visited at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Hanawalt on Sunday and called upon his aunts, Mrs. Martha Mundell and Miss Sallie Maxwell.

Miss Ida Sims of Columbus, spent Thursday and Friday with Mr. and Mrs. Earl Delong and Mrs. Amanda Beavers in Chillicothe and then came to the cottage of Mrs. Emma Sharpe at the Kellerberger Bridge to spend the rest of the week. James and Major Beavers of Chillicothe, will spend the week-end with Mrs. Sharpe at the cottage.

Mrs. Leslie Lott, Mrs. Rosella Lott, Mrs. Ella Congrove of Blackwater and Mrs. James Congrove and niece, Pauline Hettlinger, of Adelphi, motored to Columbus on Saturday and visited Mrs. Margaret Shields at Grant hospital. Mrs. Shields was later removed to her home and Mrs. Congrove remained for a few days returning on Monday. The group also visited Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Hettlinger on E. Sevmour-st., in Columbus. Paul Garrett acted as chauffeur for the group. Mrs. Shields is not expected to recover from her recent operation.

Dr. and Mrs. S. T. Yaple were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Yaple on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Anderson and Mrs. Fred Dumm spent the week-end with her sister, Mrs. Nettie Poling in Columbus.

and family spent Saturday with Miss Mary L. Harpster.

Mrs. N. J. Dunlap spent Friday with her daughter, Mrs. H. O. Pile and family in Circleville. Mr. Dunlap attended the stock sale in Chillicothe.

Mr. and Mrs. George Maxwell, and Mrs. Kate Heist of Springfield spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. John A. Wilson. Mrs. Ella Maxwell and Mrs. Heist remained for an extended visit at the Wilson home.

Mrs. N. J. Dunlap spent Wednesday in Columbus.

Mr. and Mrs. David McCorkle and Miss Kathryn Brundige visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar McCorkle at Three Locks on Tuesday. Mr. McCorkle, who was seriously ill is better at this writing.

The Ladies Aid Society of the M. E. church met on Wednesday afternoon September 14 at the home of Mrs. A. Dane Ellis with Mrs. Carrie Holderman, Mrs. Mary Freshour, Mrs. Harriet Roby, Mrs. Egbert Freshour and Miss Sara Boggs, assistant hostesses. The meeting was called to order at 2:30 o'clock by the president, Mrs. A. Dane Ellis by all singing, "What a Friend We Have in Jesus." Mrs. Ellis read the forty-second Psalm for the Scripture lesson followed by prayer offered by Mrs. Norman Pyle. The Bethel Aid meeting to be held on Saturday afternoon, September 17 at 2 o'clock at Centralia was announced the Kingston Aid being invited to attend and the president urged the members as many as can, to attend.

Mrs. G. L. Borders the chairman of the nominating committee, composed of Mrs. Emma May and Miss Carrie Umsted reported the following names for offices for the coming year to be voted upon. The presidents, four in number are Mrs. Helen Ellis, Helen Sunderland, Goldie Raub and Dennis H. Dreisbach, First vice president, Mrs. Florence Jones, Second vice president, Mrs. Bernice Borders, Secretary, Mrs. Alice Brundige, Treasurer, Mrs. C. C. Hatfield, pianist, Miss Carrie Umsted. The names were voted upon and elected by acclamation. Mrs. D. H. Dreisbach announced the Rally Day meeting for the Sunday school to be held on Sunday Sept. 25 the last Sunday in the month. She also announced that an all-day meeting is being arranged in honor of the return of Rev. V. C. Stump and family to our community. A collection of four dollars was taken. Mrs. Carrie Holderman announced that she still had a few bottles of vanilla left. Mrs. Norman Pyle announced that they were still plenty of metal sponges left. The following program was presented:

Reading, "Common Excuses," by Mrs. Engle Kreisel; two beautiful duets, "Creole Swing Song" and "The Rosary" by Mrs. W. T. Anderson and Mrs. G. L. Borders. Current Events were very interestingly discussed by Mrs. C. C. Hatfield. The hostesses served dainty refreshments consisting of individual square chocolate cakes, cookies and iced tea. The husbands were assisted in serving by Martha Freshour the small daughter of Mrs. Egbert Freshour. The guests present were Mrs. Carl V. Hohenstein, Joyce Kreisel, Martha and Nancy Freshour.

SPIRITUAL BLINDNESS

Spiritual blindness is as prevalent today as physical blindness—probably more so. To illustrate, a stranger, passing some mines in Pennsylvania asked a little boy why the field was so full of mules. "These mules are worked in the mine during the week" replied the boy "and are brought up into the light on Sunday to keep them from going blind."

Do not allow yourself to go spiritually blind. Accept the invitation and COME TO CHURCH NEXT SUNDAY.

THE VALUE OF AN IDEA Boys and girls are worth just as much as their ideas and the home training needs to be such as to make it easy to grasp ideas. What can be done to hold the young people in the Sunday school. Parents can do much in solving this problem. In the matter of studying on Sunday, they can urge a program that will make room for attendance at the church school. If it is a matter of being employed on the Sabbath, some plan of a Bible study class during the week can be worked out. If there is doubt because of acceptance of results of modern science, it will be profitable to call in some sane religious leaders of authority for a conference with the young people. He should be able to ably answer all questions involving religious doubts. If marriage interferes with church loyalty then it will mean a lot of judicious reasoning; it is here where the minister who performed the ceremony can accomplish much good. If recreation programs interfere, then church leaders need to have well planned conferences with recreational leaders and work out some plans in which all may cooperate. It needs to be made clear that it is moral suicide to rule out religion in the life of anyone. There needs to be developed a church consciousness such as will correct the habit of making other plans interfering with church attendances. Much attention needs to be given to the selection of qualified teachers with such courses of study as will supply their religious need and create a sustained interest.

Lesson for September 18

THE REPORTS OF THE SPIES

GOLDEN TEXT—The Lord is my light and my salvation; whom shall I fear? The Lord is the strength of my life; of whom shall I be afraid?

LESSON TEXT—Numbers 13:17-14:45

PRIMARY TOPIC—Two Brave Spies

JUNIOR TOPIC—Scouting Through the Promised Land

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—The Brave and the Cowardly Scouts

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—How Faith Gives Courage

1. The Spies Sent Out (13:17-20). Less than two years have passed since the Israelites were delivered from Egyptian bondage. They are now at Kadesh-barnea within sight of the Promised Land. Moses urged them to go in and take immediate possession (Deut. 1:21). But they failed to do so because of unbelief (Heb. 3:19). The record in Deuteronomy 1:19-25 shows that God did not take the initiative in sending out the spies, but that the people, because of lack of faith, made the request. There was a threefold purpose in sending out the spies:

1. To see whether the land was as God had told them (v. 18).

2. To see whether the people who dwelt there were strong or weak, few or many (v. 18).

3. And to see whether the cities were made up of strongholds or of tents (v. 19).

11. The Commission Executed (13:21-23). They entered the land from the south and traversed it to its northern limits. On their return they gathered some specimens of fruit.

11. The Spies Rendered Reports (13:26-33). On their return this committee of explorers rendered both a majority and minority report to the entire congregation (v. 26).

1. The majority report (vv. 26-29). They said:

a. "The land floweth with milk and honey" (v. 27).

b. The people who live there are strong (v. 28).

c. The people live in walled cities (v. 28).

d. The land is inhabited by giants (v. 28 cf. 33). In comparison with the inhabitants of the land they saw themselves as grasshoppers. Furthermore, they saw the people so distributed that it seemed impossible to conquer them.

2. The minority report (vv. 30-33). This report in part agreed with the first. It did not ignore the difficulties nor dispute the facts, but it did deny the conclusion of the majority. They did not minimize the task before them, but asserted that with God's help they were well able to get possession of the land, and therefore urged immediate action. The ten who made the majority report had their eyes on the difficulties, but Caleb and Joshua fixed their eyes upon God who had promised to give them the land.

IV. The Rebellion of the People (14:1-44).

1. This rebellion began by crying (vv. 1-3). They even wished that they had died in the wilderness or in Egypt. God took them at their word. He sent them back to wander in the wilderness for thirty-eight years, during which time all of that generation died except Caleb and Joshua.

2. Proposition to return to Egypt (vv. 4-10). They proposed to select a captain as their leader. Joshua and Caleb protested against this, which so exasperated the people that they were about to stone them when God manifested his glory before all Israel in vindication of the loyalty of Joshua and Caleb.

3. God's wrath upon the people (vv. 11, 12). Because of their unbelief God purposed to smite them with pestilence, disinherit them, and supplant them with a nation mightier than they.

4. Moses' intercession in behalf of the people (vv. 13-19). Moses pleaded with God against this judgment because the Egyptians would hear of it and blaspheme and this they would pass on to the other nations, saying that God was not able to bring them into the land.

5. The Lord's response to Moses' plea (vv. 20-23). He assured Moses that he had granted pardon according to his intercession but told him that although he would bring them into the land according to his promise, yet with the exception of Joshua and Caleb the men of that generation should be debared.

6. The presumption of the people (vv. 40-44). Having in unbelief refused to go up at the command of Moses, they now in presumption go. Moses advised them against such presumption, but they rejected his admonition and suffered the consequences.

V. The People Smitten by the Amalekites and Canaanites (v. 45). Because the people refused to heed Moses and presumptuously attempted to go up, God permitted the Amalekites and Canaanites to come down upon them to their destruction.

In the matter of studying on Sunday, they can urge a program that will make room for attendance at the church school. If there is doubt because of acceptance of results of modern science, it will be profitable to call in some sane religious leaders of authority for a conference with the young people. He should be able to ably answer all questions involving religious doubts.

If marriage interferes with church loyalty then it will mean a lot of judicious reasoning; it is here where the minister who performed the ceremony can accomplish much good.

If recreation programs interfere, then church leaders need to have well planned conferences with recreational leaders and work out some plans in which all may cooperate, it needs to be made clear that it is moral suicide to rule out religion in the life of anyone.

There needs to be developed a church consciousness such as will correct the habit of making other plans interfering with church attendance.

Much attention needs to be given to the selection of qualified teachers with such courses of study as will supply their religious need and create a sustained interest.

LEAGUE "TENS" SHOW STRENGTH IN GAMES

Tigers Show Wares, Whipping Merchants; Grandview Puts Up Good Tilt

While Coach "Pete" Herberholz' Circleville high Tigers were giving a Circleville Merchants' a taste of defeat in their first work-out of the season Friday afternoon, three other Central Buckeye League teams were in action, two in victories and the third in defeat.

Delaware and Marysville opened their seasons with triumphs while Bill Zwick's Granville team, defeated, put up a great fight against the South High Bulldogs of Columbus.

The local Red and Black team surprised on-lookers at the high school field as it ran rough shod over a group of former Tiger gridgers. Herberholz used the scrimmage session as a means of trying out all of his available material and was enthused and more confident about the season's outlook after the game.

HEINLEN IN UNIFORM
Allegedly composed of a group of inexperienced light-weights, Erv Carlisle's Delaware Willis high eleven humbled a Mt. Gilead team by the score of 19 to 9. John Heinlen, George Wyss and Lyle Ziegler scored the touchdowns. The game was played at the Delaware field.

SCORES
Chillicothe, 0; East High, 0.
Delaware, 19; Mt. Gilead, 9.
Marysville, 33; New Albany, 0.
South, 12; Grandview, 0.
Springfield, 33; Columbus Aquinas, 0.
Lancaster High, 12; Lancaster St. Mary's, 0.

Grandview's Bobcats were defeated 12-0 in their season opener at South high in Columbus. Coach Bill Zwick said that his gridgers were completely outclassed in weight and experience. Cooper, a freshman, and Severs, a sophomore, sparkled in the Grandview backfield with Montgomery starting among the linemen. The Grandviewites never had a chance to score.

Jerry Kingsmore's Marysville gridgers opened their season victoriously at their home town field, winning 33-7, from New Albany. The latter's lone touch came in the last quarter when V. Carpenter got away on a 90-yard run touchdown after a kickoff. The Union-co backfield composed of Williams, McMahon, DeGood and Brannan scored Marysville's touchdowns.

Chillicothe and East Side of Columbus, battled to a scoreless tie before 1,500 fans at Chillicothe Friday afternoon.

"Tackles" Cries Buckeye Coach

COLUMBUS, Sept. 17.—Coach Sam William's eyes searched the Ohio State university football squad today for two unknowns who can be converted into tackles strong enough to stop the thrusts of the Big Ten's powerful ball-carriers.

With the practice season definitely under way, William launched upon a hunt for the unsung successors to Bob Haubrich and Bill Bell, who graduated last spring after proving to be all that Big Ten tackles should be. Unless those two huskies are replaced the Buckeye line will be in weak condition.

Sixty-seven candidates, including 16 letter men, has turned out, and two more letter men were expected to return. A general feeling of optimism circulated through the Ohio Stadium, where the workouts were held, but the tackle problem remained as difficult as ever after the whole field of candidates was surveyed.

Phar Lap Back From the Dead

Looking so natural that the wife of his former owner is said to have fainted at the sight of him, Phar Lap, Australia's famous wonder horse, who died last April at Menlo Park, California, is shown as he made his reappearance as a masterpiece of the taxidermists' art. D. J. Davis, of San Francisco and Australia, Phar Lap's owner, had the horse mounted and the great racer is now touring the race courses of the country before being presented to the Australian government. Photo was made at Empire City, New York.

CHICAGO GRID HOPES MOUNT

Stagg Believes Prosperity Is Returning To His School; Vets Return.

EDITOR'S NOTE:—This is the second of a series of articles on 1932 Big Ten conference football teams.

BY LEO FISCHER
International News Service Sports Writer.

CHICAGO, Sept. 17.—It begins to look as though Chicago finally is on its way back to football prosperity.

Influx of promising material, return of most of last year's players, and the addition of several outstanding sophomores have all combined to create a spirit of optimism.

Even the veteran Coach A. A. Stagg, about to open his 41st year, as coach at Chicago, has this to say:

STAGG PLEASED
"I look forward to the impending football season with more anticipation and confidence than I have had reason to feel for many years. I expect it to be very satisfactory. And I think that the loyal alumni and friends of the university will find it equally as satisfactory."

Chicago should win at least half its games—and unless we're mighty mistaken, may furnish one of the big early season surprises by upsetting the haughty Yales on Oct. 8.

Indiana, Purdue, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin are on Coach Stagg's Big Ten card.

Maroon losses from last year's fighting squad will be more than offset by the wealth of new material. Three backs—Eugene Buzell, Paul Stagg and Joe Temple; two ends—Bernard Wien and Bob Walsh, and two fine guards—Capt. Sam Horwitz and Stanley Hanberg, are the only men who will not be back.

As the team prepares for its opening game a week from today with Monmouth college, it shapes up with no potential weakness except at end. From tackle to tackle the line is rugged, while the backfield is easily the best in a decade.

SALT CREEK BOYS BEAT PICKAWAY

Score Eight Runs in Last Two Innings To Cop 14-4; Horn On Mound.

Saltcreek-twp's baseball team defeated Pickaway-twp on the latter's diamond Friday evening by a score of 14-4. Saltcreek made eight runs in the last two innings.

Horn pitched the complete game for the Saltcreek youths and after the first inning was master of the situation. Three markers were scored in the opening session and one in the third. Estell started on the hill for Pickaway with Atwood succeeding him.

Lineups were: Saltcreek, Horn, pitcher; Bushee, catcher; Dawson, 1b; Harttraft, 2b; Kuhn, 3b; Pritchard, ss; Eugene, rf; M. Harttraft, cf; Neff, lf. Pickaway, Estel, p; Rhoads, c; Wilson, 1b; Atwood, 2b-p; Newhouse 3b; Harrah, ss; Blagg, rf; Wilson, cf; Brown, lf.

The only extra base hits were recorded by Jim Harttraft who sneaked a triple and Neff with a two-bly blow.

Next week Pickaway plays Washington and on Sept. 30 enters Adelphi at home.

Leist of this city, umpired the game Friday afternoon.

Miss Elizabeth Umstead's Jackson-twp girls recreation ball team defeated Washington-twp Friday.

SOMERVILLE AND GOODMAN TANGLE

FIVE FARMS, Md., Sept. 17.—Before nightfall today, either C. Ross (Sandy) Somerville, a Canadian, whose presence at this late moment is not without official surprise, or Johnny Goodman, an American whose presence at any time is not without official discomfort, will be the amateur golf champion of the United States for 1932.

They will meet in the 36-hole final round morning and afternoon, for the title out there in the hill country of Maryland, a couple of supposed step-children who have out-lived all heirs to become nearest of kin and inherit the family plate.

No Canadian ever before has survived the championship to reach the final round. No foreigner, except Harold Hilton, twenty-one years ago, has won the American amateur title. So a victory by Somerville today would be a bit of a shock to American prestige and yet it is possible that it will be received in some quarters with something less than resignation.

ROSEQUIST BACK

COLUMBUS, Sept. 17.—Ted Rosequist, football star who was denied entrance to Ohio State university three years ago after he left John Carroll university at Cleveland, today became a candidate for one of the important tackle positions now open on Coach Sam Willaman's Buckeye team.

Rosequist reported to Willaman and announced his determination to land one of the positions vacated by Bill Bell and Bob Haubrich at graduation. Rosequist started the 1931 season at tackle, playing in the opening game against Cincinnati, but was forced to withdraw from school because of illness.

WIFE DANCES OUT OF HUSBAND'S LIFE

NUNEATON, England.—Because she found a better dancing partner than her husband, one with whom she could win more competitions and get more cups, a 23-year-old wife summoned her husband to court here for desertion.

The wife, Muriel Arnold, and her husband entered many competitions, and brought home many cups. They were very happy until the husband allowed another young man to take his wife out dancing. She found that the young man was an even better dancer than the man she had married. The magistrate refused to grant a separation order.

KINGSTON

The Woman's Home and Foreign Missionary Society of the Presbyterian church met on Wednesday afternoon, Sept. 14, in the lower room of the church. The meeting was called to order at 2:30 o'clock by the president, Mrs. H. E. Yapple. The devotionals were in charge of Mrs. Martha Mundell.

Mrs. Margaret Dalbey, a visitor, read the Scripture lesson. The secretary, Mrs. D. W. Kuhn read the minutes and called the roll. Mrs. S. A. Teague gave an interesting report from the executive meeting held at Greenfield on Wednesday, Sept. 7, when the Chillicothe Presbyterian met and Mrs. Teague and Mrs. H. E. Yapple attended. Mrs. Teague also gave a talk on "What is the Church and Community Doing for Our Children?" Mrs. Yapple read a poem "Old Stuff," by Edgar A. Guest.

Miss Ida Holderman read a very interesting paper comparing this generation of young people with the generations of long ago and her comparison was in favor of the young people of today. Mrs. Hazel Rowland sang "Someone Who Cares," accompanied by Mrs. H. E. Yapple. Mrs. W. D. Wood was the program leader. Refreshments composed of home-made cookies and iced tea were served to 21 members and visitors.

The visitors were, Mrs. Jane Leist, Mrs. Margaret Dalbey, Mrs. Ada Boggs, Mrs. Laura Lindsay and daughter, Georgianna, Mrs. Chauncey Smith, Mrs. Hazel Rowland and Mrs. Cyrus Route.

Miss Jessie Wood is the guest of Miss Mary Templar at Belpre, O., for two weeks. Mrs. Laura Lindsay and daughter, Georgianna, of Columbus, are spending part of the time at Miss Wood's home.

N. F. Bond moved the electric light office from the room lately vacated by Beavers and Davis to the C. M. Senff office on Pickaway-st.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Hanawalt of Chillicothe, visited at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Hanawalt on Sunday and called upon his aunts, Mrs. Martha Mundell and Miss Sallie Maxwell.

Miss Ida Sims of Columbus, spent Thursday and Friday with Mr. and Mrs. Earl Delong and Mrs. Amanda Beavers in Chillicothe and then came to the cottage of Mrs. Emma Sharpe at the Kellenberger Bridge to spend the rest of the week. James and Major Beavers of Chillicothe, will spend the week-end with Mrs. Sharpe at the cottage.

Mrs. Leslie Lott, Mrs. Rosella Lott, Mrs. Ella Congrove of Blackwater and Mrs. James Congrove and niece, Pauline Hettlinger, of Adelphi, motored to Columbus on Saturday and visited Mrs. Margaret Shields at Grant hospital. Mrs. Shields was later removed to her home and Mrs. Congrove remained for a few days returning on Monday. The group also visited Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Hettlinger on E. Seymour-st., in Columbus. Paul Garrett acted as chauffeur for the group. Mrs. Shields is not expected to recover from her recent operation.

Dr. and Mrs. S. T. Yapple were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Yapple on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Anderson and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Dumm spent the week-end with their sister, Mrs. Nettie Poling in Columbus.

EDSON R. WAITE
Shawnee, Okla.

The shortest route between the buyer and seller is via the advertising columns of your newspaper.

Not many years ago a lot of people in moderate circumstances spent much time in living and acting as though they were rich. It often made a great impression on their neighbors. Nowadays everybody seems to be endeavoring to go one better than their neighbors in an effort to tell the world how good they are. Quite a change!

The secretary of your Chamber of Commerce is a shock absorber for your city.

In order to avoid mental confusion, it would be a good idea not to devote too much time in trying to puzzle out some of the planks in our political platforms.

Many people know through bitter experiences how easy it is to get into debt and how difficult it is to get out of it again. Pay as you go is a good habit to get into; that is, if you can.

The business of a city is more complex than any individual business. Therefore, even greater consideration should be given to plans for its future development.

The greatest service given the people by some of our politicians is a lip-service.

All doors are open to courtesy. There seems to be a great tendency in this country to put government into business, and little business into government.

If there is a good plan to help your city, help that plan.

Time spent in reading the advertisements in this newspaper is time well spent.

The hostesses served dainty refreshments consisting of individual square chocolate cakes, cookies and iced tea. The hostesses were assisted in serving by Martha Freshour the small daughter of Mrs. Egbert Freshour. The guests present were Mrs. Carl V. Hohenstein, Joyce Kreisel, Martha and Nancy Freshour.

Breaks Silence—With a Bugle

Tooting his horn as loud as anyone else, former Governor Alfred E. Smith, of New York, is shown as he entered into the spirit of the thing at Coney Island's Mardi Gras. It was Fireman's Night, which accounts for Al's chapeau. Though still silent on his intentions regarding the coming Presidential campaign, the "Happy Warrior" made plenty of noise with his little trumpet.

ARMY CLERK IS SUICIDE

Capt. Earl Ewing, 38, Found Shot To Death in Downtown Columbus Hotel

COLUMBUS, Sept. 17—Relatives today sought a motive for the suicide of Capt. Earl E. Ewing, 38, chief clerk in the quartermaster's division of the office of Adjutant General Frank D. Henderson, who was found shot to death in a downtown hotel yesterday with a revolver in his hand.
Captain Ewing, who formerly was a Columbus sports writer, rented a room in the hotel Thursday, a check-up by police revealed. Detectives were called when a maid found the door of the bathroom locked. Ewing had resided in a downtown apartment house with his wife, Grace.
NO NOTES FOUND
No suicide notes or explanations for the suicide could be found by investigators, although Col. Edward E. Smith said there was no doubt but that the bullet wound was self-inflicted. Before shooting himself in the right temple, Ewing donned a clean shirt, tossed a soiled one aside, the coroner said.
Ewing, who had been at Ohio National Guard headquarters for eight years, entered the World War on his graduation from Staunton Military academy at Staunton, Va. He was born in Battle Creek, Mich. Mrs. Ewing is a stenographer employed in the state highway department.

MURDERED WIFE

well note before he fired the shot into his right temple Sullivan will not be interested, he said.
The fact that she signed her name "Grace Dubois to a driver's license issued in New York does not concern him, he declared. It is up to the New York authorities to take action about this, if they so desire, Sullivan said.
"The sole culprit is dead. The motive was that he was madly in love with the Atwood girl. But we are satisfied that when she went to his camp on Great Herring pond she did not know Mrs. Dubois lay in the cement under her feet."
Sullivan, who is a neighbor of the Atwoods and has known the girl all his life, said she had satisfied him of her complete innocence of the crime.
MURDER REVEALED
The finding of the body of Mrs. Dubois revealed a gruesome tale of murder planned and arranged for right under the eyes of the victim herself. The body was sealed in a vault dug in one corner of the cellar two and a half feet deep, cemented on four sides and sealed by a cement floor Larry Frazier, the Dubois chauffeur, helped Dubois lay the cement floor with a platform just over the spot where the body lay, he told police, but he never knew a corpse slept under the sand.
"Dubois said that platform was for an electric washing machine," said Larry. "He sent me to Tuckahoe to do some work from August 7 to August 14, and when I came back the cellar floor was all finished, except for that corner where they found her."
Dubois constructed the crypt while his wife still lived with him in the house, shot her through the head with the same gun with which he killed himself yesterday, then buried her and sealed the tomb without an accomplice of any sort, police related.
Mrs. Dubois recently wrote a friend, a Mrs. Gillet of Hastings-on-Hudson, N. Y., that her husband had not been himself, although little realizing what he was plotting.
"He has been like a crazy man on account of that other woman," Sullivan quoted her letter. "He goes down in the cellar and works all day without talking to me."
The man was making his wife's grave as she worked in her kitchen above him, unsuspecting but troubled by the cooling of his affection. She knew of his love for Grace Atwood, and some times she agreed to step aside for the younger woman, according to police, but when the time for parting came, she always changed her mind, refused to give up her home, and insisted that they stay together. Dubois' eagerness to marry Grace, whom he introduced as his future bride only a month after Mrs. Dubois died, was the direct motive of the crime, investigators said.

The body was dug up by volunteer laborers working for Police Chief Russell Sullivan. It was found in a vault in the basement of a house in Quincy. It was wrapped in a white sheet, the legs tied with white cord.

Jap Phobia

THERE comes a time in the life of every nation when its people become so intensely nationalistic as to make them a menace to world peace and foolish in the eyes of sister nations. This is especially true of small countries with whom pride of nation is accompanied by a sort of phobia under the spell of which all other nations seem to have imperialistic designs on them. It is natural for a people so utterly satisfied with themselves and their land to suppose it to be coveted by all the world.

Japan arrived at this stage about the time of the Russo-Japanese war, which left her with a chronic case that lingers to this day. Her days and nights are filled with horrible visions of Uncle Sam stamping out her national life with an iron heel and the Russian bear clawing down the imperial standard. The "white peril" is many times more vivid in the minds of her people than is the "yellow peril" to the white race.

That is why jingoistic newspapers in Tokio can make their readers believe that pictures taken of Japanese buildings by the Tokio branch of an American bank are to be used by the United States for military purposes. This silly touchiness resulted in the arrest of two American round-the-world fliers a year ago.

Japanese imperialism incites guerrilla warfare in Manchuria, but to Jap patriots that warfare is an actual threat to the Island Kingdom.

Japan has been slow in passing through these growing pains because her politicians have made the fullest use of the intense nationalism which grips the people. Domestic evils and troubles they smoke-screen with official rumors of foreign aggression, and the gullible believe them.

No More Dumping

AS regards cotton and wheat the market situation is eased somewhat by the refinancing arrangement whereby farm board wheat and cotton will be withheld until the close of the 1932 marketing season. This promise that the surplus will not be dumped upon the market should release the pressure under which government stores have held the market for two years. Those stores were off the market but they figured in every quotation nevertheless.

None of the 2,000,000 bales of cotton held by the farm board will be marketed before next March unless the price goes up to 12 cents a pound. The current price is slightly under 10 cents. That means that the price will not reach 12 cents until the market can consume the surplus.

Farm board wheat, which has decreased from 25,000,000 to 3,000,000 bushels, will be held off the market until next January, regardless of price. After that it presumably will be disposed of at whatever price it commands.

This is the method the farm board is taking to mitigate the damage of two years ill-advised efforts at price-pegging.

The purpose is to protect prices of the present crop by allowing them to flow, with the possible hindrance, to their natural levels. The wheat surplus from last year is of little consequence but two million bales of cotton can hold cotton prices down several points.

Unless the new crops are larger than expected or consumption falls off still more, which is very unlikely, agriculture ought to be out of the wilderness by next spring.

Bay State Economy

MASSACHUSETTS has made it most embarrassing for the lawmakers and public administrators in other states where the taxpayers have been told that the cost of government cannot be reduced, that not only is tax reduction impossible but tax increases are unavoidable. Explanations are in order but it is doubtful if they will be accepted at the polls.

With a rare show of cooperation the legislative and executive branches of the Massachusetts state government have balanced the state's budget and eased the public part of its weighty tax burden. This seeming miracle was accomplished by vigorous slashing of department appropriation, economy in every department and a return, at least part way, to sanity in state government.

Department appropriations for the current year total $2,900,000 less than in 1931 and $2,500,000 less than in 1930. This represents economies that would be welcomed by the taxpayers of much larger and wealthier states.

The Bay State has demonstrated that the "impossible" is easily possible. Taxpayers in other states have been told that the thing was impossible, but are their executives and legislators prepared to confess that Massachusetts is better governed than they can govern?

"MURDER of the NIGHT CLUB LADY"

THE NEW THATCHER COLT DETECTIVE MYSTERY

BY ANTHONY ABBOT

COPYRIGHT, 1931, BY COVILL-FRIEDLE INC. DISTRIBUTED BY KING FEATURES SYNDICATE, INC.

SYNOPSIS

Following the receipt of a death threat, Lola Carewe, known as "The Night Club Lady", is mysteriously slain in her penthouse apartment at 3 a. m. New Year's Eve. Dr. Hugh Baldwin reports death due to heart failure. The only clue to the murderer is a medical laboratory specimen box found outside Lola's window. Police Commissioner Thatcher Colt attaches importance to the young man whose photograph is found in Lola's room, and whose identity Lola had refused to reveal beyond his first name, "Basil". At the mention of "Basil", Mrs. Carewe, Lola's mother, becomes hysterical. It is known that Lola quarreled with Guy Everett and Vincent Rowland, a lawyer, over investments. Eunice, the maid, confesses she was employed by Everett to report the goings on in the apartment. The mystery deepens with the finding of the body of Christine Quires, Lola's guest. Christine had been killed before Lola and her body hidden until an opportune moment arrived for the murderer to place it, soaking wet, in Lola's room. The findings are similar to those in Lola's case except that Christine's neck was bruised after death. Everett, Christine's last escort, claims he left her at the apartment elevator at midnight New Year's Eve, and then went for a ride on the Motor Parkway, alone, arriving home after 3 a. m. Mrs. Carewe informs Colt that Christine lived with a brother, Edgar, in Rochester, and was to receive her inheritance shortly. Lola's room is vacuum cleaned and the dust particles sent to Professor Luckner for analysis. Colt sends to the medical examiner a hypodermic syringe taken from Baldwin's bag and a strap for analysis, also a strand of Christine's hair found near Lola's window. The Commissioner orders Basil's picture telephoned to M. Dupont, head of the Paris Police.

CHAPTER TWENTY-ONE

WITHIN half an hour after reaching Headquarters I had performed my several and diversified errands. The hypodermic syringe was in the hands of a department chemist, yanked from between warm sheets and called to the cold glare of the Center Street laboratory. To him was also entrusted the buckled strap which Colt had found and to which he attributed such enigmatic importance. Finally, I had turned the photograph over to Gavin, the telegraph manager. When the grizzled old operator heard what was wanted, he looked at me with a skeptical squint.

"Telephoto — to Paris?" he repeated in a nasal tone, full of complaint. "And with the government tying up the wires trying to argue with the French about money?"

He leaned forward and grabbing my shoulder, fixed me with an eye as glittering as the Ancient Mariner's.

"So the Commissioner wants me to send that photo to Paris, eh? Does he know what that means? Of course he does not! You tell him for me that to wire this picture to Paris it has to be specially prepared — chemically. Never thought of that, eh? Then it has to be exposed, a minute area at a time, to a transmitting device by means of which the line current is varied proportionately — never thought of that either, did you? The fastest time we've ever made is two hours. And they've got to get ready over in Paris—if we can do the job at all—"

"The Commissioner said it had to be done," I cut in impatiently. "Telephone him when the picture is over there."

Gavin eyed me dourly. But I knew he would do it. Such men—there are lots among the police veterans—are never able to do their best work unless they have a free tongue to grouch. Any of them would give his life for the department.

LOOKING BACK

In Pickaway County

LAURELVILLE is completing plans for a community carnival on Sept. 20-23. Local organizations will have part.

F. C. Dunbar, president of the Pickaway Water Co., spoke to the Rotary Club.

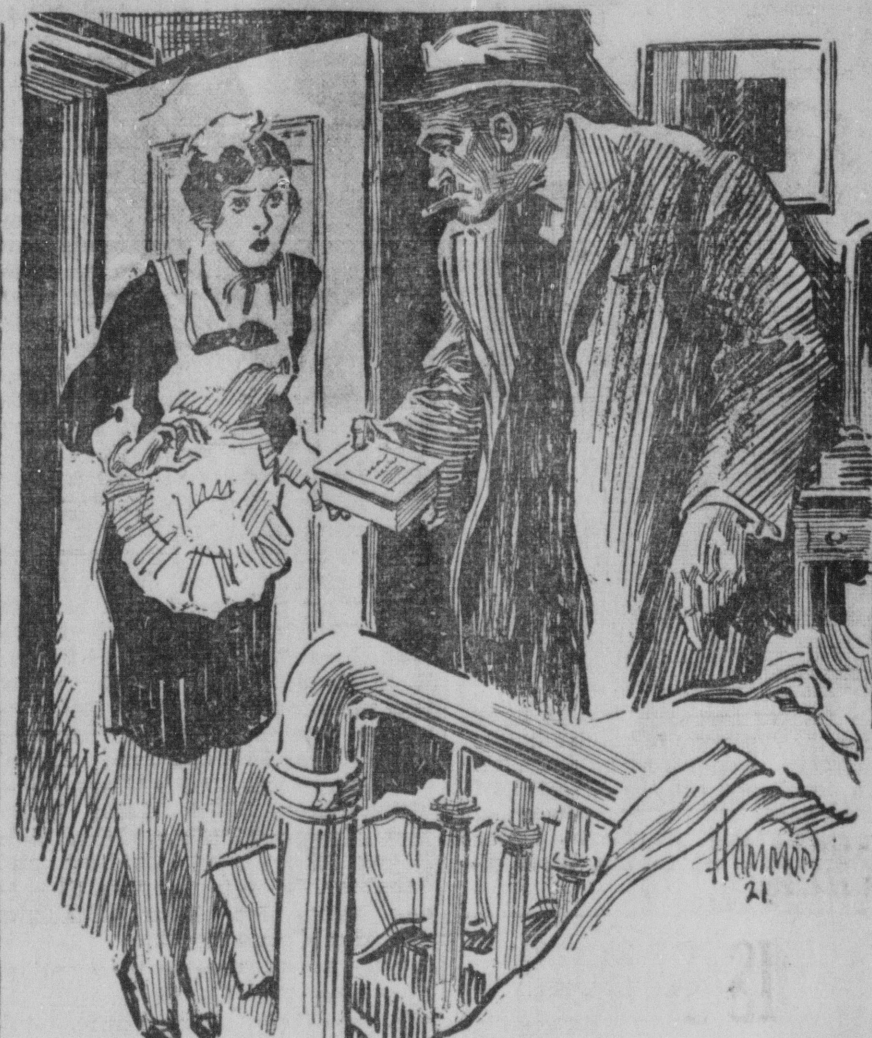

Charles Poling, 22, of East Ringgold, and Goldie Kirkhart, 19, of Salt Creek twp., obtained a marriage license.

15 YEARS AGO

Miss Charlotte Eaton has been employed as a teacher of home economics at Pickaway-twp school.

Objections have been heard by city council on the estimated assessments for the paving of Watt-st between Court and Pickaway-sts.

Glenn Speakman and Josephine Mallow of New Holland,

In Eunice's room Flynn had found a box of writing paper and a small bottle of ink identical with the materials of the death note.

On my desk at Headquarters I found several messages from my home. I looked at my watch. It was deep in the morning now; I wondered if Betty had fallen asleep. Poor kid! Police work is exciting, but not for wives. I decided it was better not to risk waking her. My tasks at Headquarters were done and I returned uptown in a department car. In quick time I arrived at the gray-stone house with the green trim on West Seventieth Street that used to be called "Little Headquarters" because Thatcher Colt transacted so much official business in his own home. Arthur, Colt's dusky Jamaican butler, greeted me with an ivory smile and led me to the vast library occupying the third floor of the house. There, in easy-chairs before the fire, I found the chief and the District Attorney. Beside them were whiskeys and sodas and a third chair was drawn up for me, with a tall drink, waiting and undisturbed. A bright fire of logs crackled and sparkled in the open grate. On Thatcher Colt's shoulder crouched a Siamese cat with blue eyes and blue-pointed ears—Judas was his name because once he had scratched his master. Now they were great friends.

When I entered the room, Colt was talking on the portable telephone beside his chair to the Rochester police chief. Their conversation was brief.

"Tony," the chief divulged as he hung up the receiver, "the brother of Christine Quires received a telegram from New York early yesterday afternoon. The Western Union won't disclose its contents without a court order. However, I expect to find out what was in the message, just the same. But we do know Edward Quires and his wife left at once for New York—around ten o'clock last night. Find out what train is due to arrive in New York from Rochester. Have one of our men board the train at Harmon and page Mr. Edward Quires. Bring him and his wife to Headquarters."

As I relayed these messages to Flynn, still over at the pent-house and functioning from there, Colt and Dougherty conversed in low tones, their voices almost obliterated by the cry of the wind in the dark street below. But presently Flynn told me something which seemed so startling to me that I held the Inspector on the wire while

I relayed his discovery. In Eunice's room, under a mattress, Flynn had found a box of writing paper and a small bottle of ink. Both were identical with the materials of the death note. On being questioned about it, Eunice admitted that she had bought the paper and ink but could give no satisfactory reason for hiding them under the mattress. In fact, she even denied having put them there.

"Tell Flynn to send the bottle and paper down to Headquarters at once," ordered Colt. "Get the fingerprint men busy on them—and leave a personal report on my desk."

These instructions I conveyed to Flynn, asking him at the same time if he had any further news. What he had to tell was none too encouraging. Mrs. Carewe had been given a sedative by Doctor Baldwin who had been called back to the apartment at her insistent demand. Now she was peacefully sleeping, with Dorothy Lox sitting at the bedside and detectives guarding all the doors and terrace windows. As Colt had instructed, detectives from the Homicide Bureau were busy checking on the past life histories of all involved. In quest of Christine Quires' background, three men from our department were already in a police airplane, flying to Rochester to work there in conjunction with the local police. Meanwhile, a large corps of men had been checking through the diaries and correspondence down at Headquarters. The results were meagre. Unlike some of the diaries which have been made public in recent New York murder cases, the self-kept record of Lola Carewe betrayed nothing except trivialities. There was no mention of love affairs or financial transactions. A number of prominent men were mentioned but only casually. They would be questioned within the next twelve hours. But we did not expect much from them. The same lack of clues was evident in the letters of Christine and Lola.

"One thing more, tell Mr. Colt," snapped the bluff voice of Inspector Flynn, "I checked up on that actor Everett's story. No car like his went on the Parkway after twelve o'clock tonight. I checked all the entrances. Everett was lying!"

"Thank Flynn," called Colt. "Tell him I'll question Everett again, later today. Keep me posted!"

AT THE CLIFTONA

Even your best friend won't tell you if the request of the manager of the Cliftona Theater, is heeded. During the current run of the First National picture, "Doctor X," Sunday, Monday and Tuesday at the Cliftona Theater, Manager Clifton is going against the general rule of exploitation and begging his audiences not to divulge the essential interest of the picture to their friends.

This interest lies in a very cleverly through the laughs and thrills of this contrived mystery which winds melodrama. The denouement of this mystery comes as such a surprise as to provide one of the greatest cinematic thrills of the year. In order that each person who views the picture may get the utmost out of this cleverly woven story, Manager Clifton is seeing to it that they come to the theater without any foreknowledge of its ultimate revelation.

"Doctor X," which is in Technicolor, is played by a cast capable of the finest entertainment. Lee Tracy once more gives an outstanding performance as a wise-cracking reported, while Fay Wray supplies the charming love interest. Lionel Ottwell, John Wray, Peston Foster and many others contribute largely to the picture's success.

To Treat Convulsions Cause Must Be Known

These Disturbances In Children Do Not Always Indicate Epilepsy, But It's Wise To Have a Thorough Examination.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

United States Senator from New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

"MY child suffers from epilepsy," somebody just wrote me. "I have had him to several doctors and he has received treatment for many years with little benefit. Is there anything that I can do for him?"

I receive many letters like this. Some of them indicate unnecessary fear.

Epilepsy, or "convulsions," as the trouble is commonly called, is regularly encountered among infants and young children. Its symptoms are terrifying to the mother. Yet sometimes the convulsions are ignored and not considered as anything unusual. They are regarded merely as being caused by an "upset stomach." This attitude is likely to be found in the family where others had convulsions in childhood.

Convulsions may be traced to various disturbances. If the child has an "organic" cause, such as meningitis, hemorrhage or tumor of the brain, abscess of the brain, or some other important disorder, the trouble is serious and cannot be regarded as a mild disturbance.

Physical Examination. However, the convulsions may be of the functional type and in that event, unpleasant as it is, the attack need not cause undue alarm. In such a case the symptoms may be attributed to a disturbance in the digestive tract. An enema will bring speedy relief.

In other cases, the convulsions may be brought about by the absorption of certain poisons which form within the body. These poisons are caused by a lack of proper elimination by the intestines or kidneys. It is rather a common symptom in disorders of the kidneys and liver.

Convulsions are sometimes encountered in children suffering from malnutrition. When the undernourishment is corrected and the child is given the proper diet and treatment, the tendency to convulsions disappears speedily.

Bear in mind that if your child suffers from convulsions, it is necessary to have a complete physical examination by a doctor. This examination is important. Treatment to be of any value, can be given only when the cause of the convulsions is known. Remember that if the attacks are repeated and become more and more severe and prolonged, the child requires careful medical attention.

Call the Physician

In what I have said, I do not refer to the form of spasms seen in children who are subject to "tantrums." These children are irritable, become easily excited, get blue in the face, and may become limp or stiff. These performances can be traced to neurotic tendencies and can only be cured by improvement in the child's training and behavior.

When the child has a convulsion, do not lose your head. Call a physician and while he is on the way, keep the child as quiet as possible. Avoid all unnecessary noises and excitement.

Place the child in a hot tub, trying the heat on your elbow first to make sure that the water is not scalding. Apply cold ice-packs to the head.

Do not give any medicines or "tonics" unless they have been prescribed by your physician. Leave the medication to him.

Convulsions that are neglected and are allowed to occur repeatedly, are a menace to the health and future of your child. Much unnecessary suffering and unhappiness can be avoided by early and immediate attention.

mathematician, was born on this date. Others who have celebrated as a birthday include Peter Schuyler, 1657 first mayor of Albany, N. Y., J. P. Lesley, 1819, noted geologist.

Sunday, Sept. 17, 1932

Benific aspects appear to govern today, according to Astrology. A decided influence will be exerted to produce reforms, which will be beneficial and profitable to the nation. Many plans to increase expansion and bring the country out of chaos and involved conditions may be expected. The disturbances in the industrial situation will be felt less in the next two weeks, and improvements and adjustments may be expected. The iron and steel industry is likely to have fewer difficulties, and the heads of these organizations be free from criticism and the employees will be more encouraged.

This is likely to be a happy day for those who move in social circles. New interest will be shown for the relief of the needy. Good management is likely to prevail in business and dealings with cashiers, tellers, bankers, merchants and insurance companies will be conducted thru shrewd and unbiased judgment.

Today is an excellent day for the fruit industry, manufacturing chemists, cattle and grain industry, and the butter and cheese industry.

Persons born the last week in April, June, August, October and December, should make the most of this day.

Financial relations with foreign countries will be more favorable than in the past few days. The death rate will not be so high; however, the death, or public funeral of some prominent person is likely to take place.

In England the internal business of the country will bring about movements that will benefit employees. In Germany, society will be busy.

Radio programs will have interesting speakers who will understandingly explain the farm and industrial situation.

Children born on this day will be very capable. Unusual situations may come up, but they will be able to overcome them and will land on their feet.

Samuel Johnson, English writer and lexicographer, 1709, was born on this date. Others who have celebrated it as a birthday include Tropan, Roman Emperor; John Stevens Cabot Abbott, 1805, American historian.

Jap Phobia

THERE comes a time in the life of every nation when its people become so intensely nationalistic as to make them a menace to world peace and foolish in the eyes of sister nations. This is especially true of small countries with whom pride of nation is accompanied by a sort of phobia under the spell of which all other nations seem to have imperialistic designs on them. It is natural for a people so utterly satisfied with themselves and their land to suppose it to be coveted by all the world.

Japan arrived at this stage about the time of the Russo-Japanese war, which left her with a chronic case that lingers to this day. Her days and nights are filled with horrible visions of Uncle Sam stamping out her national life with an iron heel and the Russian bear clawing down the imperial standard. The "white peril" is much more vivid in the minds of her people than is the "yellow peril" to the white race.

That is why jingoistic newspapers in Tokyo can make their readers believe that pictures taken of Japanese buildings by the Tokio branch of an American bank are to be used by the United States for military purposes. This silly touchiness resulted in the arrest of two American round-the-world fliers a year ago.

Japanese imperialism incites guerrilla warfare in Manchuria, but to Jap patriots the warfare is an actual threat to the Island Kingdom.

Japan has been slow in passing through these growing pains because her politicians have made the fullest use of the intense nationalism which grips the people. Domestic evils and troubles they smoke-screen with official rumors of foreign aggression, and the gullible believe them.

No More Dumping

AS regards cotton and wheat the market situation is eased somewhat by the refinancing arrangement whereby farm board wheat and cotton will be withheld until the close of the 1932 marketing season. This promise that the surplus will not be dumped upon the market should reassure the producers under which government stores have held the market for two years. Those stores were off the market but they figured in every quotation nevertheless.

None of the 2,000,000 bales of cotton held by the farm board will be marketed before next March unless the price goes up to 12 cents a pound. The current price is slightly under 10 cents. That means that the price will not reach 12 cents until the market can consume the surplus.

Farm board wheat, which has advanced since 250,000,000 to 3,000,000 bushels, will be held off the market until next January, regardless of price. After that it presumably will be disposed of at whatever price it commands.

This is the method the farm board is taking to mitigate the damage of two years ill-advised efforts at price-pegging.

The purpose is to protect prices of the present crop by allowing them to flow, with the possible hindrance, to their natural levels. The great surplus from last year is of little consequence, but two million bales of cotton can hold cotton prices down several points.

Unless the new crops are larger than expected or consumption falls off still more, which is very unlikely, agriculture ought to be out of the wilderness by next spring.

Bay State Economy

MASSACHUSETTS has made it most embarrassing for the lawmakers and public administrators in other states where the taxpayers have been told that the cost of government cannot be reduced, that not only is tax reduction impossible but tax increases are unavoidable. Explanations are in order but it is doubtful if they will be accepted at the polls.

With a real show of cooperation the legislature and executive branches of the Massachusetts state government have balanced the state's budget and eased the public of part of its weighty tax burden. This seeming miracle was accomplished by vigorous slashing of department appropriation, economy in every department and a return, at least part way to sanity in state government.

Department appropriations for the current year total $2,900,000, less than in 1931 and $3,500,000 less than in 1930. This represents economies that would be welcomed by the taxpayer states of much larger and wealthier states.

The Bay State has demonstrated that the "impossible" is easily possible. Taxpayers in other states have been told that the thing was impossible, but are their executives and legislators prepared to confess that Massachusetts is better governed than they can govern?

"MURDER of the NIGHT CLUB LADY"

THE NEW THATCHER COLT DETECTIVE MYSTERY

BY ANTHONY ABBOT

COPYRIGHT, 1931, BY COWLEY-FRIEDLE INC. DISTRIBUTED BY KING FEATURES SYNDICATE, INC.

SYNOPSIS

Following the receipt of a death threat, Lola Carewe, known as "The Night Club Lady", is mysteriously slain in her penthouse apartment at 3 a. m. New Year's. Dr. Hugh Baldwin reports death due to heart failure. The only clue to the murderer is a medical laboratory specimen box found outside Lola's window. Police Commissioner Thatcher Colt attaches importance to the young man whose photograph is found in Lola's room, and whose identity Lola had refused to reveal beyond his first name, "Basil". At the mention of "Basil", Mrs. Carewe, Lola's mother, becomes hysterical. It is known that Lola quarreled with Guy Everett and Vincent Rowland, a lawyer, over investments. Eunice, the maid, confesses she was employed by Everett to report the goings on in the apartment. The mystery deepens with the finding of the body of Christine Quires, Lola's guest. Christine had been killed before Lola and her body hidden until an opportune moment arrived for the murderer to place it, soaking wet, in Lola's room. The findings are similar to those in Lola's case except that Christine's neck was bruised after death. Everett, Christine's last escort, claims he left her at the apartment elevator at midnight New Year's Eve, and then went for a ride on the Motor Parkway, alone, arriving home after 3 a. m. Mrs. Carewe informs Colt that Christine lived with a brother, Edgar, in Rochester, and was to receive her inheritance shortly. Lola's room is vacuum cleaned and the dust particles sent to Professor Luckner for analysis. Colt sends to the medical examiner a hypodermic syringe taken from Baldwin's bag and a strap for analysis, also a strand of Christine's hair found near Lola's window. The Commissioner orders Basil's picture telephoned to M. Dupont, head of the Paris Police.

CHAPTER TWENTY-ONE

WITHIN half an hour after reaching Headquarters I had performed my several and diversified errands. The hypodermic syringe was in the hands of a department chemist, yanked from a between warm sheet and called to the cold glare of the Center Street laboratory. To him was also entrusted the buckled strap which Colt had found and to which he attributed such enigmatic importance. Finally, I had turned the photograph over to Gavin, the telegraph manager. When the grizzled old operator heard what was wanted, he looked at me with a skeptical squint.

"Telephoto—no Paris?" he repeated in a nasal tone, full of complaint. "And with the government tying up the wires trying to argue with the French about money?"

He leaned forward and grabbing my shoulder, fixed me with an eye as glittering as the Ancient Mariner's.

"So the Commissioner wants me to send that photo to Paris, eh? Does he know what that means? Of course he does not! You tell him for me that to wire this picture to Paris it has to be specially prepared—chemically. Never thought of that, eh? Then it has to be exposed, a minute area at a time, to a transmitting device by means of which the line current is varied proportionately—never thought of that either, did you? The fastest time we've ever made is two hours. And they've got to get ready over in Paris—if we can do the job at all—"

"The Commissioner said it had to be done," I cut in impatiently. "Telephone him when the picture is over there."

Gavin eyed me dourly. But I knew he would do it. Such men—there are lots among the police veterans—are never able to do their best work unless they have a free tongue to grouch. Any of them would give his life for the department.

In Eunice's room Flynn had found a box of writing paper and a small bottle of ink identical with the materials of the death note.

On my desk at Headquarters I found several messages from my home. I looked at my watch. It was deep in the morning now; I wondered if Betty had fallen asleep. Poor kid! Police work is exciting, but not for wives. I decided it was better not to risk waking her. My tasks at Headquarters were done and I returned uptown in a department car. In quick time I arrived at the gray-stone house with the green trim on West Seventieth Street that used to be called "Little Headquarters" because Thatcher Colt transacted so much official business in his own home. Arthur Colt's ducky Jamaican butler, greeted me with an ivory smile and led me to the vast library occupying the third floor of the house. There, in easy-chairs before the fire, I found the chief and the District Attorney. Beside them were whiskey and sodas and a third chair was drawn up for me, with a tall drink, waiting and undrilled. A bright fire of logs crackled and sparkled in the open grate. On Thatcher Colt's shoulder crouched a Siamese cat with blue eyes and blue-pointed ears—Judas was his name because once he had scratched his master. Now they were great friends.

When I entered the room, Colt was talking on the portable telephone beside his chair to the Rochester police chief. Their conversation was brief.

"Tony," the chief divulged as he hung up the receiver, "the brother of Christine Quires received a telegram from New York early yesterday afternoon. The Western Union won't disclose its contents without a court order. However, I expect to find out what was in the message, just the same. But we do know, Edward Quires and his wife left at ten o'clock last night. Find out what train is due to arrive in New York from Rochester. Have one of our men board the train at Harmon and page Mr. Edward Quires. Bring him and his wife to Headquarters."

As I relayed these messages to Flynn, still over at the pent-house and functioning from there, Colt and Dougherty conversed in low tones, their voices almost obliterated by the cry of the wind in the dark street below. But presently Flynn told me something which seemed so startling to me that I held the Inspector on the wire while

I relayed his discovery.

In Eunice's room, under a mattress, Flynn had found a box of writing paper and a small bottle of ink. Both were identical with the materials of the death note. On being questioned about it, Eunice admitted that she had bought the paper and ink but could give no satisfactory reason for hiding them under the mattress. In fact, she even denied having put them there.

"Tell Flynn to send the bottle and paper down to Headquarters at once," ordered Colt. "Get the fingerprint men busy on them—and leave a personal report on my desk."

These instructions I conveyed to Flynn, asking him at the same time if he had any further news. What he had to tell was none too encouraging. Mrs. Carewe had been given a sedative by Doctor Baldwin who had been called back to the apartment at her insistent demand. Now she was peacefully sleeping, with Dorothy Lor sitting at her bedside and detectives guarding all the doors and terrace windows.

Colt had instructed detectives from the Homicide Bureau were busy checking on the past life histories of all involved. In quest of Christine Quires' background, three men from our department were already in a police airplane, flying to Rochester to work there in conjunction with the local police. Meanwhile, a large corps of men had been checking through the diaries and correspondence down at Headquarters. The results were meagre. Unlike some of the diaries which have been made public in recent New York murder cases, the self-kept record of Lola Carewe betrayed nothing except trivialities. There was no mention of love affairs or financial transactions. A number of proud men were mentioned but only casually. They would be questioned within the next twelve hours. But we did not expect much from them. The same lack of clues was evident in the letters of Christine and Lola.

"One thing more, tell Mr. Colt," snapped the bluff voice of Inspector Flynn, "I checked up on that actor Everett's story. No car like his, no functioning from there, Colt and Dougherty conversed in low tones, their voices almost obliterated by the cry of the wind in the dark street below. But presently Flynn told me something which seemed so startling to me that I held the Inspector on the wire while

"Can't We Settle This Without Violence?"

To Treat Convulsions Cause Must Be Known

These Disturbances In Children Do Not Always Indicate Epilepsy, But It's Wise To Have a Thorough Examination.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
 United States Senator from New York.
 Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

"MY child suffers from epilepsy," somebody who wrote me. "I have had him to several doctors and he has received treatment for many years with little benefit. Is there anything that I can do for him?"

I receive many letters like this. Some of them indicate unnecessary fear. Epilepsy, or "convulsions," as the trouble is commonly called, is regularly encountered among infants and young children. Its symptoms are terrifying to the mother. Yet sometimes the convulsions are ignored and not considered as anything unusual. They are regarded merely as being caused by an "upset stomach." This attitude is likely to be found in the family where others had convulsions in childhood.

Convulsions may be traced to various disturbances. If the child has an "organic" cause, such as meningitis, hemorrhage or tumor of the brain, abscess of the brain, or some other important disorder, the trouble is serious and cannot be regarded as a mild disturbance.

Physical Examination However, the convulsions may be of the functional type and in that event, unpleasant as it is, the attack need not cause undue alarm. In such a case the symptoms may be attributed to a disturbance in the digestive tract. An enema will bring speedy relief.

In other cases, the convulsions may be brought about by the absorption of certain poisons which form within the body. These poisons are caused by a lack of proper elimination by the intestines or kidneys. It is rather a common symptom in disorders of the kidneys and liver.

Convulsions are sometimes encountered in children suffering from malnutrition. When the undernourishment is corrected and the child is given the proper diet and treatment, the tendency to convulsions disappears speedily.

Bear in mind that if your child suffers from convulsions, it is necessary to have a complete physical examination by a doctor. This examination is important. Treatment to be of any value, can be given only when the cause of the convulsions is known. Remember that if the attacks are repeated and become more and more severe and prolonged, the child requires careful medical attention.

Call the Physician In what I have said, I do not refer to the form of spasm seen in children who are subject to "tantrums." These children are excitable, become easily excited, get blue in the face, and may become limp or stiff. These performances can be traced to neurotic tendencies and can only be cured by improvement in the child's training and behavior.

When the child has a convulsion, do not lose your head. Call a physician and while he is on the way, keep the child as quiet as possible. Avoid all unnecessary noises and excitement.

Place the child in a hot tub, trying the heat on your elbow first to make sure that the water is not scalding. Apply cold ice-packs to the head.

Do not give any medicines or "tonics" unless they have been prescribed by your physician. Leave the medication to him.

Convulsions that are neglected and are allowed to occur repeatedly, are a menace to the health and future of your child. Much unnecessary suffering and unhappiness can be avoided by early and immediate attention.

Children born on this day will have a desire for independence. Will like changes, but not in the home. Nervous tension high and likely to accidents.

Sunday, Sept. 17, 1932

Benific aspects appear to govern today, according to Astrology. A decided influence will be exerted to produce reforms, which will be beneficial and profitable to the nation. Many plans to increase expansion and bring the country out of chaos and involved conditions may be expected. The content in the industrial situation will be felt less in the next two weeks, and improvements and adjustments may be expected. The iron and steel industry is likely to have fewer difficulties, and the heads of these organizations, be free from criticism and the employees will be more encouraged.

This is likely to be a happy day for those who move in social circles. New interest will be shown for the relief of the needy. Good management is likely to prevail in business, tellers, bankers, merchants and insurance companies will be conducted thru shrewd and unbiased judgment.

Today is an excellent day for the fruit industry, manufacturing chemists, cattle and grain industry, and the butter and cheese industry.

Persons born the last week in April, June, August, October and December, should make the most of this day.

Financial relations with foreign countries will be more favorable than in the past few days. The death rate will not be so high; however, the death, or public funeral of some prominent person is likely to take place.

In England the internal business of the country will bring about movements that will benefit employees. In Germany, society will be busy.

Radio programs will have interesting speakers who will understandingly explain the farm and industrial situation.

Children born on this day will be very capable. Unusual situations may come up, but they will be able to overcome them and will land on their feet.

Samuel Johnson, English writer and lexicographer, 1709, was born on this date. Others who have celebrated it as a birthday include Napoleon, Roman Emperor, John Stevens Cabot Abbott, 1805, American historian.

AT THE CLIFTONA

Even your best friend won't tell you if the request of the manager of the Cliftona Theater, is heeded. During the current run of the First National picture, "Doctor X," Sunday, Monday and Tuesday at the Cliftona Theater. Manager Clifton is going against the general rule of exploitation and begging his audiences not to divulge the essential interest of the picture to their friends.

This interest lies in a very cleverly through the laughs and thrills of this contrived mystery which melodrama The denouement of this mystery comes as such a surprise as to provide one of the greatest cinematic thrills of the year. In order that each person who views the picture may get the most out of this cleverly a very story, Manager Clifton is seeing to it that they come to the theater without any foreknowledge of its ultimate revelation.

"Doctor X," which is in Technicolor, is played by a cast capable of the finest entertainment. Lee Tracy once more gives an outstanding performance as a wise-cracking reported, while Fay Wray supplies the charming love interest. Lionel Ottwell, John Wray, Feston Foster and many others contribute largely to the picture's success.

GIRL, HEROINE, DIES SAVING HER SISTER

COLUMBUS, Sept. 17.—Ethel Peck, 16-year-old high school girl, died a heroine in Mercy hospital today after her dress caught fire while she was saving her sister, Virginia, 17, from flames that threatened her life.

The girls were canning fruit after returning home from classes at Central high school. In snatching a blazing can of paraffin away from the side of her sister, Ethel was fatally burned. Virginia was only slightly burned.

EXTEND TAX TIME

The county auditor's office received notice Saturday from the intangible tax division of the state tax commission at Columbus that the time for the payment of personal property taxes which were due on or before Sept. 20 has been extended to and including Oct. 10.

These political campaigns are far-reaching. Astronomers are studying eclipse photos for gases. Perhaps the governor of the Bank of England came over to see how we close banks and make government deficits.

Breaks Silence—With a Bugle

Tooting his horn as loud as anyone else, former Governor Alfred E. Smith, of New York, is shown as he entered into the spirit of the thing at Coney Island's Mardi Gras. It was Fireman's Night, which accounts for Al's chapeau. Though still silent on his intentions regarding the coming Presidential campaign, the "Happy Warrior" made plenty of noise with his little trumpet.

ARMY CLERK IS SUICIDE

Capt. Earl Ewing, 38, Found Shot To Death in Downtown Columbus Hotel

COLUMBUS, Sept. 17.—Relatives today sought a motive for the suicide of Capt. Earl E. Ewing, 38, chief clerk in the quartermaster's division of the office of Adjutant General Frank D. Henderson, who was found shot to death in a downtown hotel yesterday with a revolver at his side.

Captain Ewing, who formerly was a Columbus sports writer, rented a room in the hotel Thursday, a check-up by police revealed. Detectives were called when a maid found the door of the bathroom locked. Ewing had resided in a downtown apartment house with his wife, Grace.

NO NOTES FOUND

No suicide notes or explanations for the suicide could be found by investigators, although Coroner Edward E. Smith said there was no doubt but that the bullet wound was self-inflicted. Before shooting himself in the right temple, Ewing donned a clean shirt, tossing a soiled one aside, the coroner said.

Ewing, who had been at Ohio National Guard headquarters for eight years, entered the World War on his graduation from Staunton Military academy at Staunton, Va. He was born in Battle Creek, Mich. Mrs. Ewing is a stenographer employed in the state highway department.

CLAIMS RECORD

BRISTOL, England, Sept. 17.—An airplane altitude record of 45,000 feet (more than eight miles) was claimed today by Captain Cyril Unwins, chief test pilot of an airplane company.

Unwins made the flight in a specially lightened plane with 550 h. p. Pegasus motor.

By the time he reached 45,000 feet his two-hour gasoline supply became exhausted and he was forced to land.

Unwins served as an aviator during the last war, when he received a broken neck in a crash. He now flies with a metal band supporting his head.

NOMINEE IN UTAH

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Sept. 17.—In pursuance of his theory that every state is fighting ground and debatable territory this year, despite its political performances, Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt brought his presidential candidacy into traditionally Republican Utah today and squared away for a battle.

Only one Democratic candidate for the presidency has carried Utah since the turn of the century. Woodrow Wilson carried it in 1926 with his "keep us out of war" slogan, but he was the only Democratic to crash through the line of Republican defence.

FOUND AND A HALF BABY

LYNN, Mass.—Mrs. Ernest H. Bowden of Fayett Street was the mother of the smallest baby in the history of the Union hospital, if not in the city. The infant, named Nancy Hope Bowden, weighed only 1 1/2 pounds. She is Mrs. Bowden's tenth child.

MURDERED WIFE

well note before he fired the shot into his right temple, Sullivan will not be interested, he said.

The fact that she signed her name "Grace Dubois" to a driver's license issued in New York does not concern him, he declared. It is up to the New York authorities to take action about this, if they so desire, Sullivan said.

"The sole culprit is dead. The motive was that he was madly in love with the Atwood girl. But we are satisfied that when she went to his camp on Great Herring pond she did not know Mrs. Dubois lay in the cement under her feet."

Sullivan, who is a neighbor of the Atwoods and has known the girl all his life, said she had satisfied him of her complete innocence of the crime.

MURDER REVEALED

The finding of the body of Mrs. Dubois revealed a gruesome tale of murder planned and arranged for right under the eyes of the victim herself. The body was sealed in a vault dug in one corner of the cellar two and a half feet deep, cemented on four sides and sealed by a cement floor. Larry Frazier, the Dubois chauffeur, helped Dubois lay the cement floor with a platform just over the spot where the body lay, he told police, but he never knew a corpse slept under the sand.

"Dubois said that platform was for an electric washing machine," said Larry. "He sent me to Tuckahoe to do some work from August 7 to August 14, and when I came back the cellar floor was all finished, except for that corner where they found her."

Dubois constructed the crypt while his wife still lived with him in the house, shot her through the head with the same gun with which he killed himself yesterday, then buried her and sealed the tomb without an accomplice of any sort, police related.

Mrs. Dubois recently wrote a friend, a Mrs. Gillet of Hastings-on-Hudson, N. Y., that her husband had not been himself, although little realizing what he was plotting.

"He has been like a crazy man on account of that other woman," Sullivan quoted her letter. "He goes down in the cellar and works all day without talking to me."

The man was making his wife's grave as she worked in her kitchen above him, unsuspecting, but troubled by the cooling of his affection. She knew of his love for Grace Atwood, and some times she agreed to step aside for the younger woman, according to police, but when the time for parting came, she always changed her mind, refused to give up her home, and insisted that they stay together.

Dubois' eagerness to marry Grace, whom he introduced as his future bride only a month after Mrs. Dubois died, was the direct motive of the crime, investigators declared.

The body was dug up by six volunteer laborers working under Police Chief Russell Dearborn, of Plymouth late yesterday afternoon, some four hours after Dubois' suicide in Quincy. It was lying on its right side, wrapped in a waterproof sheet, the legs tied with white cord.

ROAMING AROUND WITH TEACHERS

A number of teachers this year have spent the summer traveling. Some attended school and others stayed at their homes.

Principal E. I. Gephart didn't have much vacation as he was busy "keeping the road warm" from Circleville to Ohio State university. Also he moved into his new home on Union-st., before school started.

Miss Elma Rains spent a five weeks' vacation at Big Pine Lake in Michigan where "the water was grand when the weather wasn't too cold." On the way home she stopped for a day at the Cleveland Air Races.

Miss Gertrude Pigman started for California, July 1, went through the Grand Canyon, spent four days at Los Angeles, six weeks in San Francisco, a week at Yosemite, came home through the Canadian Rockies and stopped at Lake Louise, Banff, and arrived last Friday in time for school.

Fred Watts spent most of the summer in his little Ford traveling in Ohio. A week of his time was spent seeing such historical points as Mt. Vernon and the national capital. He also saw the naval academy at Annapolis.

Miss Velma Watson was "way down South" in North Carolina, Virginia and Tennessee.

J. F. Herberholz was a director of Bold Face play ground in Cincinnati.

R. R. Hite rested at his home in Greensburg, Indiana.

J. O. Eagleson was busy corresponding with the various superintendents of the Union and visiting his mother in Cambridge, Ohio.

C. F. Zaenglein went through the Ozark Mountains to Kansas where he visited with his sister. Charles Hax vacationed in the East up as far as Quebec, Canada.

Florence Brown, eighth grade, visited in Cleveland and went on sightseeing trips of interest throughout Ohio.

Kenneth Lea, also an eighth grade teacher, attended Ohio State university.

Miss Marian Hitler, Miss Margaret Mattinson, Miss Johnda Tootle, Miss Emily Yates and S. T. Rife all had an enjoyable summer at their homes.

BANDS REHEARSE FOR SHOW HERE

Sectional rehearsals of the high school's two bands, under the direction of C. F. Zaenglein, have started with the opening week of school. The senior band now has an enrollment of 50 with the junior band enrolling 55. Both bands are engaged as entertainers at the Pumpkin Show.

The senior band has received an invitation to participate in the Gateway Jubilee of the Boy Scouts of America for Central Ohio, this is to be held for three days in Columbus starting September 25. The engagement is open to acceptance. Publicity will be the only reward as thousands of spectators will witness this celebration.

No new members will be admitted to the band until after Pumpkin Show. A change is apt to cripple their efficiency. However anytime after the fair, new members may be admitted by attending the rehearsals of the junior band. The senior band will be enlarged by the most efficient musicians from the junior band.

24 NEW PUPILS HAVE ENROLLED

Twenty-four new pupils have enrolled in Circleville high school this year.

In the freshman class there are fourteen new pupils. They are Louise Ashcraft, Ambridge, Penn.; Cecile Boyer, Ruth Bunn, Louise Dowden, Edith Garrett, Helen Garrett, Marie Garrett, Doris Mossbarger and Eugene Mowery of Wayne-twp.; Mary Reynolds, Pickaway-twp.; Marianne Sapp, Bainbridge; and Anne Thacher, Jackson-twp.

In the sophomore class there are six new students. They are Verdale Poling and John Carl from Walnut-twp.; Stanley Melvin, Jackson-twp.; Robert Myers, Clendenin, West Virginia; Clara Spangler, Chillicothe and Oscar Trochler, Washington-twp.

There are no new students in the junior class except William Copeland who finished last year in Columbus and Mary Margaret Fohl who finished last year in Logan. They formerly attended Circleville high school and have returned this year.

In the senior class there are two new students. They are Harold Ankrum, Steele high school, Dayton, and Garnet Peters, Jackson-twp.

NEW TEACHER IN HIGH SCHOOL

C. F. Hax, new teacher of English, dramatics, and journalism in the high school, was formerly employed at Massillon, Ohio.

From the SIDELINES

The success of a team is its support from the sidelines. A team that is on the short end of a score often comes to the front through the cheering of its enthusiastic followers. That is because the person on the sidelines is as much a part of the team as the player himself.

The player on the field supplies the brain and skill and the man on the sidelines is the moral support, giving courage to the player to carry on in spite of odds.

Let's have some record crowds at the games starting next week and show some championship cheering! Let's stick with our team and give all we have in backing them through victory and defeat.

CLUB OFFICIALS ARE ANNOUNCED

C. H. S. clubs are continuing this year under new officers which were selected at the close of the last school term. All new members are to be initiated before the first meeting of each club. All clubs have kept their advisors of the previous year.

Advisors of the various clubs are as follows: Epsilon Mu Sigma, Miss Marian Hitler; Senior Girl Reserves, Miss Elma Rains and Miss Velma Watson; Junior Girl Reserves, Miss Marian Hitler; Hi-Y, Principal E. I. Gephart and P. S. Herberholz; Epsilon Mu Sigma, English honorary club has its officers for the coming term: Avonell Haacker, president; John Mason, vice president; and Dorothy Bartley, secretary-treasurer.

Senior Girl Reserve officers are, President, Avonell Haacker; Vice-president, Sara Stenhaus; and Secretary-treasurer, Eleanor Davis.

Officers for the Junior Girl Reserves are, Elma Rains, president; Eleanor Miller, vice-president; and Ernestine Byler, secretary-treasurer.

Junior Girl Reserves will hold a meeting Saturday at Miss Marian Hitler's home, to elect cabinet members for the year.

Hi-Y officers are, President, Howard Adams, Vice-president, John Moore; Secretary, John Mason; and Treasurer, Paul Rooney.

CLUB OFFICERS TO BE ELECTED

Rehearsals of the Girl's Glee club will be held after school this year instead of during school, as has been done previously. Miss Johnda Tootle, supervisor of music has not determined whether to have a Senior Glee club and Boys' Glee club this year.

Election of officers for the girls' club will be held next week. These officers include a president, who must be a senior, secretary-treasurer, librarian and sergeant-at-arms. No freshmen are eligible for offices. All members of last year are eligible for the club this year without examination and not more than 15 new members are to be admitted.

Class music is to begin soon. Seniors and juniors will have alternate music classes this year on Fridays.

Miss Tootle announces that tryouts will be held next week for accompanists for glee clubs, operettas, and the freshmen, sophomore, junior and senior classes.

GRIDIRONERS ARE READY FOR BATTLE

Although losing a few veterans from last year's gridiron team, the Circleville tigers are working hard under the coaching of P. S. Herberholz.

The team is practicing every night after school with every boy hoping to receive a position on the team this year.

The squad includes: Gaines Hill, Dean White, Emanuel Hundley, Charles Davis, Bill Hegele, Bud Miller, Paul Wallace, Paul Rooney, Lee Cook, Bill Robinson, Kenneth Hill, and younger boys from lower grades getting in shape for three years which are still ahead of them.

The first game will be played with Lancaster, one of Circleville's old rivals at the opponent's field.

HI-SCHOOL ROOMS ARE CROWDED

Crowded conditions prevail in Circleville high school this year with 364 students enrolled. Every session room is filled to its capacity and study halls and most class rooms are crowded. The new eighth period is helping to lessen this condition by making it possible to get in all the classes and still have room for the pupils. This is done by starting afternoon classes fifteen minutes earlier and by doing away with physical education period.

The beginners' typing classes are overcrowded and plans are being made to add another class of this by cancelling one of the advanced classes.

The third, seventh and eighth periods study halls are very crowded the days on which manual training and home economics are not taught.

The approximate number of people taking the following elective subjects are as follows: chemistry, 66; occupations, 60; home economics, 86; manual training, 60; beginners short-hand, 41; advanced short-hand, 7. Both of the beginners classes are crowded. There are 17 seats in the room and 21 pupils one period and 20 pupils in the other period.

RED AND BLACK TEMPORARY STAFF

A temporary Red and Black Staff has been chosen by C. F. Hax, advisor. The staff named is composed of students who have had previous experience in journalism.

It includes Charlotte Caskey, Betty Leist, Charlotte Moore, Marie Briner, Mary Enola Helwegen, Horace Gilmore and Dorothy Bartley on the news staff; Ellen Bennett, copy reader; Harry Hosler, proof reader and Robert Ward, assistant. Typists are Theda Bowsher, Doris Schofield and Nancy Jane Herriman.

Newcomers to the class who will also aid in publishing the paper are Nancy Jane Merriman, Elizabeth Dowden, Louise Cummings, Loren Carothers, Tom Conrad, Mark Maxey, Lyman England, George Ammer, George Speakman, Emanuel Hundley, Loring Eldridge, Gaylord Greenlee and Harold Ankrum.

The Red and Black staff pledges itself to the following code of ethics taken from the code of the Indiana High School Press Association.

1. To cooperate with the faculty in supporting all school projects and in giving only constructive criticisms to such projects.

2. To maintain at all times a high standard of sportsmanship by avoiding personal enmity and jealousy both within the school and in inter-school relations.

3. To refrain from publishing articles concerning the school that convey the wrong impression to those not familiar with every phase of the situation.

4. To avoid unkind personal jokes, criticisms, and caricatures.

5. To give full credit for any material which is not original.

6. To be truthful in reporting news, not sacrificing accuracy to make a good story.

7. To acknowledge mistakes, by frankly correcting all errors which are brought to the attention of the staff.

8. To use correct English and to strive for the best style of expression.

9. To work as a team; not for individual glory.

10. To exemplify the fact that the purpose of the paper is to be a spokesman of the school which it represents, to give accurate information and to reflect good sportsmanship.

PRINCIPAL'S TOPICS

To the students of Circleville High School: Greetings. We are embarking on another year in education exploration. You are the passengers and the faculty is the crew. No voyage can be pleasant unless crew and passengers maintain the proper relationship and cooperatively understand each other. The faculty endeavors to guide you in your search for knowledge that you may have pleasant experiences seasoned with variations to prevent monotony. You must be a willing student cooperating with the faculty and your fellow students and conforming to the rules of the school to make your school life pleasant and profitable.

This first week of the school year has revealed an excellent attitude on the part of everyone. May we continue to exhibit this fine spirit of loyalty, cooperation and good will. We will reach the end of our voyage filled with a satisfaction which only work well-done can bring to us.

Back To School

By LOUISE CUMMINGS
Back to school, back to school; Back to learn the Golden Rule. Back to learn what we don't know.

So in the world, we'll have a show. Back to school, back to school. Vacation's come and gone. And now that it is over. We've books to work upon.

Back to school, back to school. It's such a thrill to be And when we come to think of it We're lucky kids, are we?

WHO IS IT?

A long legged sophomore is he. You will see him at the C. A. C. He dances very well I am sure. Well enough, for Chubby to endure.

He goes around with a boy called Pete. And both for good looks none can compete. He's seen driving a tudor Chevy. It is his Dad's now don't you savvy?

TRAFFIC SIGNS WARN DRIVERS

New traffic signs displaying a boy holding signs of warning to passing motorists to drive slow in the school zone, have been placed at Franklin-st. school and at the high school.

The signs are placed in the street in the morning before school and removed at the close of school in the afternoon. Paul Hundley assisted by John Noggle is in charge of the signs at Franklin-st. Those in front of the high school are in charge of David Steinhauer.

LOGAN ELM TO MEET THURSDAY

The Logan Elm Grange meeting which was to be held Tuesday evening has been postponed until Thursday evening, Sept. 22. Inspection will be conducted at this session to be held at the Pickaway-twp school.

MISS GRACE MOODIE IS LUNCHEON HOSTESS

Miss Grace Moodie was luncheon hostess, Saturday, at her home on S. Court-st., to Mrs. John Miller, Mrs. C. C. Coroner, Miss Fisher and Miss Isabelle Hughes of Columbus, and Mrs. C. E. Groce, this city.

MRS. WARD HONORS NIECE ON BIRTHDAY

For the pleasure of her niece, Evelyn Wolfe, on her 14th birthday anniversary, Mrs. John Ward of E. Union-st., entertained a delightful party at her home Friday evening.

Bridge was the planned diversion and was in play at three tables. Trophies were presented Jane Drum, Eleanor Brown and Eleanor Timmons.

A delicious lunch was served at the conclusion of the game at pretty tables.

Guests were Misses Marvne Wallace, Ann Vlerehome, Jane Drum, Eleanor Brown, Dorothy Beatty, Ann Denman, Lucille May, Marjory Mader, Eleanor Timmons, Marjory Brown, Mary Elizabeth Groce and the honored guest, Evelyn Wolfe.

U. B. BIBLE CLASS HAS MEETING

A very pleasant meeting of the Shining Light Bible Class was held Thursday evening at the United Brethren Community house.

The president, Mrs. C. O. Kerns opened the session with a song service followed by devotionals led by Mrs. Agnes Accord. Business transactions followed. It was decided the class would furnish pies one day for the Ladies Aid booth during Pumpkin Show.

The program for the evening was in charge of the leader, Mrs. Kate McFadden. Miss Viola Woolver and Mrs. Ed McLaren gave humorous readings. The high light of the evening was the playlet that concluded the program under the direction of Miss Cora Hampshire. It was entitled, "A Suffrage Meeting" and portrayed a group of progressive ladies who met and discussed politics. The characters included:

Mrs. Evans, Mrs. Cora Coffland; Mrs. Dale, Mrs. Bertie Albright; Miss White, Miss Cora Hampshire; Mrs. Clive, Mrs. Ed McLaren; Callie Clive, Miss Viola Woolver; Miss Allen, Mrs. Maggie Morris; Mrs. May, Miss Daisy Woolver; Refreshments were served during a social hour by the September committee.

BEHIND the SCENE In HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD, Cal. All vaudeville engagements are temporarily off for Estelle Taylor. Sam Rork has asked her to play Clara Bow's mother in "Call Her Savage." And she signed the contract yesterday morning.

To accept the role, she had to postpone the opening of her act in a San Francisco motion picture theater.

Oddly enough, the actress received five film offers on the day she signed at Fox. This, following, a considerable period in which the producers seemed to have forgotten her.

Why, it is hard to figure out. Estelle is one of Hollywood's more colorful figures and she is proved in "Cimarron" that she is a first rate performer in the talkies.

The box picture, Sam Rork assures me, will get under way today.

Colleen Moore tells an amusing story about the gay nineties party of the Fredric Marches.

Dressed up fit to kill, she and Al Scott dropped in to show their costumes to her family.

Colleen was wearing one of those queer old hats garnished with a stuffed bird.

Examining it with interest, her grand-mother, now 90 years old, exclaimed: "Where did you get that hat?"

"At the studio," replied Colleen. "Well," thrilled the old lady, "don't let it get out of your hands. Buy it tomorrow. That's the most becoming hat you've had in years."

BOULEVARD TOPICS:
Within three weeks, Dolores Del Rio will announce her affiliation with another film company.

Recovering rapidly from the shock of that automobile accident, Ruth Chatterton will start her picture at Warners in two weeks.

Joan Blondell had moved into a big new house on top of one of Hollywood's highest hills.

Hollywood is admiring the white sport jacket that Prince George of England gave to Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. He wears a long flowing scarf with it.

They say now that Eddie Robinson is definitely out of "The Machine" and leaves immediately for a two month vacation in Europe. Tom

SOCIAL CLUB OPENS FALL SESSIONS

Opening the Autumn session of the Presbyterian Women's Social club, also marked the retirement of the officers of the past year. Mrs. Clark Will, retiring president, called the meeting to order and the business session was opened with a prayer by Mrs. E. S. Toensmaier.

Mrs. Will interestingly reviewed the activities of the club for the past year, noting the splendid growth, cooperation and interest that has developed during her regime as president.

Acting secretary, Mrs. Charles Smith, read a report of the May meeting, after which the nominating committee with Mrs. Ward Robinson as chairman submitted the slate of officers to be voted on by the club as follows: president, Miss Hilda Seyfert; vice president, Mrs. L. E. Evans; secretary and treasurer, Miss Dorothy Sampson; chairman of program committee, Mrs. George McDowell; publicity chairman, Mrs. Blanche Mutschman; music committee, Miss Mary May Haswell. The slate was unanimously elected by the club.

At this juncture, Mrs. Will presented Mrs. Tom Renick, chairman of the program committee. The program was opened with an interesting gender contest, all members participating; as papers were graded Mrs. Glenn Nickerson was acclaimed winner with the highest number correct.

As a second number, the Monday Club quartet with Mrs. Clark Will, Miss Helen Marion, Mrs. Evan Reichelderfer and Mrs. J. P. Moffitt, contributed a group of songs entitled, "Rain" by Curran, "Amariyllis" old French and "Snowstorm" by Rogers. Each number was a masterpiece in harmony and beauty.

Mrs. George McDowell read a tree contest story, each person supplying the names of trees where a word was missing. Prize for this contest was awarded Mrs. Blanche Mutschman.

The program was climaxed with a group of songs by Robert Barr of Columbus, director of music for the First Presbyterian church. Mr. Barr charmed his audience with his glamorous renditions of the following numbers: "Song of Songs," "Tommy Lad," "Give a Man a Horse He Can Ride," and in response to an enthusiastic encore, he delighted the members with a closing number. Miss Abbe Mills Clarke accompanied the quartet and Mr. Barr.

A social period followed the program after which the members and guests were invited to a beautifully appointed table where they were served a delicious collation.

Mrs. Clark Will and Mrs. E. S. Toensmaier poured tea and coffee from silver urns at either end of the tables.

The committee in charge of this meeting was composed of Mrs. Ward Robinson, chairman, Mrs. H. P. Folsom, Mrs. H. D. Jackson, Mrs. H. C. Allen, Mrs. B. T. Hedges, Miss Nell Weldon, Mrs. C. K. Hunsicker, Mrs. Mary Butler, Mrs. Harp VanRiper, Mrs. Harry

As Pope Pius Received Guests

An unusual photo showing His Holiness Pope Pius XI on his throne in the reception room of the Vatican as he granted an audience to a number of visitors from various parts of the world. Rarely indeed is a camera permitted within the sacred precincts of the Vatican, and hardly ever inside the reception room where the Pontiff grants audiences.

PERSONALS

Miss Rita Jean Ryan of Columbus is visiting at the home of Mrs. J. F. English and family, N. Scioto-st.

Mrs. Joseph Wilder of E. Mound-st., left Saturday morning for Indianapolis, Ind., where she will visit her brother, Frank Evans and Mrs. Evans.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McManamy of N. Court-st., motored to Cincinnati, Friday, and spent the day with Mrs. McManamy's nephew, Richard Wray.

Mrs. Edward Delaplaine of Northridge-rd., returned home Thursday after a week's visit with her son, Lincoln, in Erie, Pa., and a two weeks' stay with her daughter, Mrs. A. M. Newton in Cleveland, Mrs. Newton and daughter, Sally.

A splendid program was presented consisting of vocal solos by Mrs. A. H. Morris, Mrs. Iley Greeno, Lucille Kirkwood, Kenneth Rutherford, vocal duets by Eleanor Vandervort and Evelyn Pierce and John Maxey and sister; selections by a man's chorus directed by J. W. Trimmer, interspersed by speeches by Rev. Spurgeon Metzler, pastor of Pickaway circuit and Noah Spangler.

Mrs. Charles Gussman, as general chairman of the affair, presented the honored guests with a beautiful potted fern in behalf of those present.

A play, "Suffragettes," the characters of which were members of the Shining Light Bible class concluded the program. Dainty refreshments were served at the close of the pleasant party by members of the Ladies Aid.

CIRCLEVILLE SCHOOLS' PAPER—DEPARTMENT OF THE CIRCLEVILLE HERALD

NO. 1, VOL. 6, ISSUE 233.

CIRCLEVILLE, OHIO, SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 17, 1932

ROAMING AROUND WITH TEACHERS

A number of teachers this year have spent the summer traveling. Some attended school and others stayed at their homes.

Principal E. I. Gephart didn't have much vacation as he was busy "keeping the road warm" from Circleville to Ohio State university. Also he moved into his new home on Union-st. before school started.

Miss Elma Rains spent a five weeks' vacation at Big Pine Lake in Michigan where "the water was grand when the weather wasn't too cold." On the way home she stopped for a day at the Cleveland Air Races.

Miss Gertrude Pigman started for California, July 1, went through the Grand Canyon, spent four days at Los Angeles, six weeks in San Francisco, a week at Yosemite, came home through the Canadian Rockies and stopped at Lake Louise, Banff, and arrived last Friday in time for school.

Frederick spent most of the summer in his little Ford traveling in Ohio. A week of his time was spent seeing such historical points as Mt. Vernon and the national academy. He also saw the naval academy at Annapolis.

Miss Velma Watson was "way down South" in North Carolina, Virginia and Tennessee.

P. S. Herberholz was a director of Bold Face play ground in Cincinnati.

R. R. Hite rested at his home in Greensburg, Indiana.

J. O. Eagleson was busy corresponding with the various superintendents of the Union and visiting his mother in Cambridge, Ohio.

C. F. Zaenglein went through the Ozark Mountains to Kansas where he visited with his sister.

Charles Hax vacationed in the East up as far as Quebec, Canada.

Florence Brown, eighth grade, visited in Cleveland and went on sightseeing trips of interest through Ohio.

Kenneth Lea, also an eighth grade teacher, attended Ohio State university.

Miss Marian Hitler, Miss Margaret Mattinson, Miss Johnda Tootle, Miss Emily Yates and S. T. Rife all had an enjoyable summer at their homes.

BANDS REHEARSE FOR SHOW HERE

Sectional rehearsals of the high school's two bands, under the direction of C. F. Zaenglein, have started with the opening week of school. The senior band now has an enrollment of 50 with the junior band enrolling 55. Both bands are engaged as entertainers at the Pumpkin Show.

The senior band has received an invitation to participate in the Gateway Jubilee of the Boy Scouts of America for Central Ohio, this is to be held for three days in Columbus starting September 25. The engagement is open to acceptance. Publicity will be the only reward as thousands of spectators will witness this celebration.

No new members will be admitted to the band until after Pumpkin Show. A change is apt to cripple their efficiency. However anytime after the fair, new members may be admitted by attending the rehearsals of the junior band. The senior band will be enlarged by the most efficient musicians from the junior band.

24 NEW PUPILS HAVE ENROLLED

Twenty-four new pupils have enrolled in Circleville high school this year.

In the freshman class there are fourteen new pupils. They are Louise Aschcraft, Ambridge, Penn.; Cecile Boyer, Ruth Bunn, Louise Dowden, Edith Garrett, Helen Garrett, Marie Garrett, Doris Mossbarger and Eugene Mowery of Wayne-twp.; Mary Reynolds, Pickaway-twp.; Marianne Sapp, Bainbridge; and Anne Thacher, Jackson-twp.

In the sophomore class there are six new students. They are Verdale Poling and John Carle from Walnut-twp.; Stanley Melvin, Jackson-twp.; Robert Myers, Glendenin, West Virginia; Clara Spangler, Chillicothe; and Oscar Trochler, Washington-twp.

There are no new students in the junior class except William Copeland who finished last year in Columbus and Mary Margaret Pohl who finished last year in Logan. They formerly attended Circleville high school and have returned this year.

In the senior class there are two new students. They are Harold Ankrum, Steele high school, Dayton, and Gaele Peters, Jackson-twp.

NEW TEACHER IN HIGH SCHOOL

C. F. Hax, new teacher of English, dramatics, and journalism in the high school was formerly employed at Massillon, Ohio.

He attended Capital university and graduated in 1931. While there he received a B. S. degree in Education. He also took active part in football, basketball, and dramatics.

When asked how he liked the school, he remarked that he was pleased with the school and the city as a whole. But above all he is anxiously awaiting the great Pumpkin Show.

From the SIDELINES

The success of a team is its support from the sidelines. A team that is on the short end of a score often comes to the front through the cheering of its enthusiastic followers. That is because the person on the sidelines is as much a part of the team as the player himself.

The player on the field supplies the brain and skill and the man on the sidelines is the moral support, giving courage to the player to carry on in spite of odds.

Let's have some record crowds at the games starting next week and show some championship cheering! Let's stick with our team and give all we have in backing them through victory and defeat.

CLUB OFFICIALS ARE ANNOUNCED

C. H. S. clubs are continuing this year under new officers which were selected at the close of the last school term. All new members are to be initiated before the first meeting of each club. All clubs have kept their advisors of the previous year.

Advisors of the various clubs are as follows: Epsilon Mu Sigma, Miss Marian Hitler; Senior Girl Reserves, Miss Elma Rains and Miss Velma Watson; Junior Girl Reserves, Miss Marian Hitler; Hi-Y, Principal E. I. Gephart and P. S. Herberholz; Epsilon Mu Sigma, English honorary club has as its officers for the coming term, Avanel Haecker, president; John Mason, vice president and Dorothy Bartley, secretary-treasurer.

Senior Girl Reserve officers are, President, Avanel Haecker; Vice-president, Sara Steinhauser; and Secretary-treasurer, Eleanor Davis.

Officers for the Junior Girl Reserves are, Elsie Bremher, president; Eleanor Miller, vice-president; and Ernestine Eyer, secretary-treasurer.

Junior Girl Reserves will hold a meeting Saturday at Miss Marian Hitler's home, to elect cabinet members for the year.

Hi-Y officers are, President, Howard Ater; Vice-president, John Moore; Secretary, John Mason; and Treasurer, Paul Rooney.

CLUB OFFICERS TO BE ELECTED

Rehearsals of the Girl's Glee club will be held after school this year instead of during school as has been done previously. Miss Johnda Tootle, supervisor of music has not determined whether to have a Senior Glee club and Boys' Glee club this year.

Election of officers for the girls' club will be held next week. These officers include a president who must be a senior, secretary-treasurer, librarian and sergeant-at-arms. No freshmen are eligible for offices. All members of last year are eligible for the club this year without examination and not more than 15 new members are to be admitted.

Class music is to begin soon. Seniors and juniors will have alternate music classes this year on Friday.

Miss Tootle announces that try outs will be held next week for accompanists for glee clubs, operettas, and the freshmen, sophomore, junior and senior classes.

GRIDIRONERS ARE READY FOR BATTLE

Although losing a few veterans from last year's gridiron team, the Circleville tigers are working hard under the coaching of P. S. Herberholz.

The team is practicing every night after school with every boy hoping to receive a position on the team this year.

The squad includes, Gaines Hill, Dean White, Emanuel Hundley, Charles Davis, Bill Hegele, Bud Miller, Paul Wallace, Paul Rooney, Lee Cook, Bill Robinson, Kenneth Hill and younger boys from lower grades getting in shape for three years which are still ahead of them.

The first game will be played with Lancaster, one of Circleville's old rivals at the opponent's field.

HI-SCHOOL ROOMS ARE CROWDED

Crowded conditions prevail in Circleville high school this year with 364 students enrolled. Every session room is filled to its capacity and study halls and most class rooms are crowded. The new eighth period is helping to lessen this condition by making it possible to get in all the classes and still have room for the pupils. This is done by starting afternoon classes fifteen minutes earlier and by doing away with physical education period.

The beginners' typing classes are overcrowded and plans are being made to add another class of this by cancelling one of the advanced classes.

The third, seventh and eighth periods study halls are very crowded the days on which manual training and home economics are not taught.

The approximate number of people taking the following elective subjects are as follows: chemistry, 66; occupations, 60; home economics, 80; manual training, 50; beginners short-hand, 41; advanced short-hand, 7; Both of the beginners classes are crowded. There are 17 seats in the room and 21 pupils one period and 20 pupils in the other period.

RED AND BLACK TEMPORARY STAFF

A temporary Red and Black Staff has been chosen by C. F. Hax, advisor. The staff named is composed of students who have had previous experience in journalism.

It includes Charlotte Caskey, Betty Leist, Charlotte Moore, Marie Briner, Mary Enola Helwegren, Horace Gilmore and Dorothy Bartlett, copy reader; Ellen Bennett, proof reader; Harry Hosler, assistant. Typists are Theda Bowsher, Doris Schofield and Nancy Jane Herriman.

Newcomers to the class who will also aid in publishing the paper are Nancy Jane Merriman, Elizabeth Dowden, Louise Cummings, Loren Carothers, Tom Conrod, Mark Maxey, Lyman England, George Ammer, George Speakman, Emanuel Hundley, Loring Eldridge, Gaylord Greenlee and Harold Ankrom.

The Red and Black staff pledges itself to the following code of ethics taken from the code of the Indiana High School Press Association.

1. To cooperate with the faculty in supporting all school projects and in giving only constructive criticisms to such projects.

2. To maintain at all times a high standard of sportsmanship by avoiding personal enmity and jealousy both within the school and in inter-school relations.

3. To refrain from publishing articles concerning the school that convey the wrong impression to those not familiar with every phase of the situation.

4. To avoid unkind personal jokes, criticisms, and caricatures.

5. To give full credit for any material which is not original.

6. To be truthful in reporting news, not sacrificing accuracy to make a good story.

7. To acknowledge mistakes, frankly correcting all errors which are brought to the attention of the staff.

8. To use correct English and to strive for the best style of expression.

9. To work as a team; not for individual glory.

10. To exemplify the fact that the purpose of the paper is to be a spokesman of the school which it represents, to give accurate information, and to reflect good sportsmanship.

PRINCIPAL'S TOPICS

To the students of Circleville High School: Greetings. We are embarking on another year in education exploration. You are the passengers and the faculty is the crew. No voyage can be pleasant unless crew and passengers maintain the proper relationship and cooperatively understand each other. The faculty endeavors to guide you in your search for knowledge that you may have pleasant experiences seasoned with variations to prevent monotony. You must be a willing student cooperating with the faculty and your fellow students and conforming to the rules of the school to make your school life pleasant and profitable.

This first week of the school year has revealed an excellent attitude on the part of everyone. May we continue to exhibit this fine spirit of loyalty, cooperation and good will. We will reach the end of our voyage filled with a satisfaction which only work well-done can bring to us.

Back To School

By LOUISE CUMMINGS

Back to school, back to school; Back to learn the Golden Rule. Back to learn what we don't know.

So in the world, we'll have a show.

Back to school, back to school, Vacation's come and gone, And now that it is over, We've books to work upon.

Back to school, back to school, It's such a thrill to be And when we come to think of it We're lucky kids, are we?

WHO IS IT?

A long legged sophomore is he You will see him at the C. A. C. He dances very well I am sure Well enough for Chilly to endure.

He goes around with a boy called Pete And both for good looks none can compete He's seen driving a tucker Chevy It is his Dad's now don't you savvy?

TRAFFIC SIGNS WARN DRIVERS

New traffic signs displaying a boy holding signs of warning to passing motorists to drive slow in the school zone, have been placed at Franklin-st. school and at the high school.

The signs are placed in the street in the morning before school and removed at the close of school in the afternoon. Paul Hundley assisted by John Noggle is in charge of the signs at Franklin-st. Those in front of the high school are in charge of David Steinhauser.

LOGAN ELM TO MEET THURSDAY

The Logan Elm Grange meeting which was to be held Tuesday evening has been postponed until Thursday evening, Sept. 22. Inspection will be conducted at this session to be held at the Pickaway-twp school.

MISS GRACE MOODIE IS LUNCHEON HOSTESS

Miss Grace Moodie was luncheon hostess, Saturday, at her home on S. Court-st. to Mrs. John Miller, Mrs. C. C. Coroner, Miss Fisher and Miss Isabelle Hughes of Columbus, and Mrs. C. E. Groce, this city.

MRS. WARD HONORS NIECE ON BIRTHDAY

For the pleasure of her niece, Evelyn Wolfe, on her 14th birthday anniversary, Mrs. John Ward of E. Union-st. entertained a delightful party at her home Friday evening.

Bridge was the planned diversion and was in play at three tables. Trophies were presented Jane Drum, Eleanor Brown and Eleanor Timmons.

A delicious lunch was served at the conclusion of the game at pretty tables.

Guests were Misses Marvonne Wallace, Ann Vierebome, Jane Drum, Eleanor Brown, Dorothy Beatty, Ann Denman, Lucille May, Marjory Mader, Eleanor Timmons, Marjory Brown, Mary Elizabeth Groce and the honored guest, Evelyn Wolfe.

U. B. BIBLE CLASS HAS MEETING

A very pleasant meeting of the Shining Light Bible Class was held Thursday evening at the United Brethren Community house. The president, Mrs. C. O. Kerns opened the session with a song service followed by devotionals led by Mrs. Agnes Accord. Business transactions followed. It was decided the class would furnish pies one day for the Ladies Aid booth during Pumpkin Show.

The program for the evening was in charge of the leader, Mrs. Kate McFadden. Miss Viola Woolver and Mrs. Ed McLaren gave humorous readings. The highlight of the evening was the playlet that concluded the program under the direction of Miss Cora Hampshire. It was entitled, "A Suffrage Meeting" and portrayed a group of progressive ladies who met and discussed politics. The characters included:

Mrs. Evans, Mrs. Gora Coffland; Mrs. Dale, Mrs. Erbe Albright; Miss White, Miss Gora Hampshire;

Mrs. Clive, Mrs. Ed McLaren; Callie Clive, Miss Viola Woolver;

Miss Allen, Mrs. Maggie Morris; Mrs. May, Miss Daisy Woolver; Refreshments were served during a social hour by the September committee.

BEHIND the SCENE In HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., All vaudeville engagements are temporarily off for Estelle Taylor. Sam Rork has asked her to play Clara Bow's mother in "Call Her Savage." And she signed the contract yesterday morning.

To accept the role, she had to postpone the opening of her act in a San Francisco motion picture theater.

Oddly enough, the actress received five film offers on the day she signed at Fox. This, following a considerable period in which the producers seemed to have forgotten her.

Just why, it is hard to figure out. Estelle is one of Hollywood's more colorful figures and she proved in "Cimarron" that she is a first rate performer in the talkies.

The Bow picture, Sam Rork assures me, will get under way today.

Colleen Moore tells an amusing story about the gay nineties party of the Fredric Marches.

Dressed up fit to kill, she and Al Scott dropped in to show their costumes to her family.

Colleen was wearing one of those quaint old hats garnished with a stuffed bird.

Examining it with interest, her grand-mother, now 90 years old, exclaimed: "Where did you get that hat?"

"At the studio," replied Colleen. "Well," thrilled the old lady, "don't let it get out of your hands. Buy it tomorrow. That's the most becoming hat you've had in years."

BOULEVARD TOPICS: Within three weeks, Dolores Del Rio will announce her affiliation with another film company.

Recovering rapidly from the shock of that automobile accident, Ruth Chatterton will start her picture at Warners in two weeks.

Joan Blondell had moved into a big new house on top of one of Hollywood's highest hills.

Hollywood is admiring the white sport jacket that Prince George of England gave to Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. He wears a long flowing scarf with it.

They say now that Eddie Robinson is definitely out of "The Machine" and leaves immediately for a two month vacation in Europe.

SOCIAL CLUB OPENS FALL SESSIONS

Opening the Autumn session of the Presbyterian Women's Social club, also marked the retirement of the officers of the past year. Mrs. Clark Will, retiring president, called the meeting to order and the business session was opened with a prayer by Mrs. E. S. Toensmeier.

Mrs. Will interestingly reviewed the activities of the club for the past year, noting the splendid growth, cooperation and interest that has developed during her regime as president.

Acting secretary, Mrs. Charles Smith, read a report of the May meeting, after which the nominating committee with Mrs. Ward Robinson as chairman submitted the slate of officers to be voted on by the club as follows: president, Miss Hulda Seyfert; vice president, Mrs. L. E. Evans; secretary and treasurer, Miss Dorothy Sampson; chairman of program committee, Mrs. George McDowell; publicity chairman, Mrs. Blanche Mutschman; music committee, Miss Mary May Haswell. The slate was unanimously elected by the club.

At this juncture, Mrs. Will presented Mrs. Tom Renick, chairman of the program committee. The program was opened with an interesting gender contest, all members participating; as papers were graded Mrs. Glenn Nickerson was acclaimed winner with the highest number correct.

As a second number, the Monday Club quartet with Mrs. Clark Will, Miss Helen Marion, Mrs. Evan Reichelderfer and Mrs. J. P. Moffitt, contributed a group of songs entitled, "Rain" by Curran. "Amayyllis" old French and "Snowstorm" by Rogers. Each number was a masterpiece in harmony and beauty.

Mrs. George McDowell read a tree contest story, each person supplying the names of trees where a word was missing. Prize for this contest was awarded Mrs. Blanche Mutschman.

The program was climaxed with a group of songs by Robert Barr of Columbus, director of music for the First Presbyterian church. Mr. Barr charmed his audience with his glamorous renditions of the following numbers "Song of Songs," "Tommy Lad," "Give a Man a Horse He Can Ride," and in response to an enthusiastic encore, he delighted the members with a closing number, Miss Abbe Mills Clarke accompanied the quartet and Mr. Barr.

A social period followed the program after which the members and guests were invited to a beautifully appointed table where they were served a delicious collation.

Mrs. Clark Will and Mrs. E. S. Toensmeier poured tea and coffee from silver urns at either end of the tables.

The committee in charge of this meeting was composed of Mrs. Ward Robinson, chairman, Mrs. H. P. Folson, Mrs. H. D. Jackson, Mrs. H. C. Allen, Mrs. B. T. Hedges, Miss Nell Weldon, Mrs. C. K. Hunsicker, Mrs. Mary Butler, Mrs. Harp VanRiper, Mrs. Harry

As Pope Pius Received Guests

An unusual photo showing His Holiness Pope Pius XI on his throne in the reception room of the Vatican as he granted an audience to a number of visitors from various parts of the world. Rarely indeed is a camera permitted within the sacred precincts of the Vatican, and hardly ever inside the reception room where the Pontiff grants audiences.

Heffner, Mrs. T. A. Boyle, Mrs. George Roth, Mrs. Shortridge and Miss Blanche McCrady.

A rising vote of thanks was given the retiring officers, president, Mrs. Clark Will; vice president, Mrs. Ward Robinson; secretary-treasurer, Miss Florence Dunton; publicity, Mrs. Blanche Mutschman; program chairman, Mrs. Tom Renick and music chairman, Miss Abbe Clarke.

FAREWELL PARTY HONORS PASTOR

About 140 friends and members of the United Brethren church assembled at the Parish house, Friday evening, to bid farewell to Rev. and Mrs. W. F. Rutherford, who have been assigned to the Wagner Memorial church in Columbus, and who will be moving to that city the early part of next week.

A splendid program was presented consisting of vocal solos by Mrs. A. H. Morris, Mrs. Hey Greeno, Lucille Kirkwood, Kenneth Rutherford, vocal duets by Eleanor Vandervort and Evelyn Pierce and John Maxey and sister; selections by a man's chorus directed by J. W. Trimmer, interspersed by speeches by Rev. Spurgeon Metzler, pastor of Pickaway circuit and Noah Spangler.

Mrs. Charles Gussman, as general chairman of the affair, presented the honored guests with a beautiful potted fern in behalf of those present.

A play, "Suffragettes," the characters of which were members of the Shining Light Bible class concluded the program. Dainty refreshments were served at the close of the pleasant party by members of the Ladies Aid.
